TIMKENSTEEL

TIMKENSTEEL

2014

Employee Handbook
Canton Steel

Employee Handbook 2014

Canton Steel

TIMKENSTEEL

TimkenSteel® is a registered trademark of TimkenSteel Corporation.
© 2014 TimkenSteel Corporation

Printed in U.S.A. 250 08-14: 29

Table of Contents

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. INTRODUCTION

Equal Employment Opportunity 3
Introduction and Disclaimer 3

2. TIMKENSTEEL CORPORATION

A Message from our President and CEO 7
Core Values 8

3. CONDUCT AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Introduction 11
- Your Conduct and Responsibilities 11
- Category I 11
- Category II 12
- Category III 12
- Retaliation Policy and Statement 14

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Policy 14
- Definitions 15
- Prohibitions 15
- Disciplinary Actions/Conditions of Employment 15
- Counseling, Rehabilitation and Assistance 15
- Confidentiality 16
- Return to Work 16
- Effect on Workers' Compensation Eligibility 16

Electronic Communications Policy 16
- Purpose 16
- Scope 16
- Defined Terms 16
- Policy Statement 18
  - General Policy 18
  - Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements 18
  - Company Right to Monitor and Access 18
  - Disclosure and Interception of Electronic Communications 18
  - Electronic Communications Content 19
  - Sensitive Company Information 19
  - User Identification 19
- Violations 19
- References 19
- Policy Authority 20

Contacts 20
Environmental, Health and Safety Policy 20
Harassment Policy 21
Prohibition on Unlawful Harassment and Discrimination 21
Harassment - Sexual Harassment Policy 22
Harassment and Discrimination Reporting Policy 23
Retaliation Statement 23
Information Security Policy 24
Introduction 24
Principles 24
Scope 25
Responsibilities 25
Information Security Procedures 25
Compliance 27
Security Incident Reporting 28
Internet Security Policy 28
Company Right to Monitor and Access 29
Privacy Legislation 29
Policy Violations 29
Questions 30
Social Networking Policy 30
Purpose 30
Scope 30
Defined Terms 30
Policy Statement 31
General Policy 31
Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements 32
Company Right to Monitor and Access 32
Social Networking Content 32
Representing the Company 33
User Identification 33
Violations 33
References 34
Policy Authority 34
Contacts 34
Trading In Stock 34
Use and Disclosure of Material, Non-Public Information Restricted 34
Examples of Material, Non-Public Information 35

Transactions Involving Company Stock - Prohibited Acts 35
Trading on Inside Information Prohibited..... 35
"Tipping" Prohibited..... 36
"Stop Loss" Orders Prohibited..... 36
Speculative Trading Prohibited..... 36
Permitted Transactions..... 36
Preferred Window Periods for Trading Company Stock..... 36
401(k) Plan Purchases..... 37
Individual Liability..... 37
Use of Company Information Technology Assets..... 37
Purpose..... 37
Scope..... 37
Defined Terms..... 37
Policy Statement..... 39
General Policy..... 39
Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements..... 39
Company Right to Monitor and Access..... 39
Data Privacy Legislation..... 39
Security Obligations..... 39
Compliance with Laws..... 40
Reporting Security Incidents..... 40
Violations..... 40
References..... 40
Policy Authority..... 40
Contacts..... 40
Workplace Dating/Romance..... 41

4. JOB FACTS AND GENERAL INFORMATION

Absence..... 45
Authorized Leave of Absence..... 45
Reporting Absence..... 45
Returning from a Medical-Related Absence..... 46
When You Must Report to Medical Services..... 46
Disability Case Management (DCM) Program..... 46
Introduction..... 46
Disability Applications..... 47
Accidents..... 47
Apprentice Training..... 48
Badges/Security Identification..... 48
Bulletin Boards..... 48
Cellular (Cell) Phones..... 48

Change in Your Personal Data 49
Community Volunteer Engagement 50
Continuous Improvement – Employee Involvement 50
Counseling 50
Dress Code/Appearance 51
Educational Reimbursement Program 51
Employment Policy 52
Equal Employment Opportunity Policy 52
Accommodating Qualified Individuals with Disabilities 53
Hiring Relatives – Policy 53
Rehire Policy 54
Serious Illness Policy 54
Family & Medical Leave Act (FMLA) 55
Basic Leave Entitlement 55
Military Family Leave Entitlements 56
Benefits and Protections 56
Eligibility Requirements 57
Definition of Serious Health Condition 57
Use of Leave 57
Leave Calculation 58
Substitution of Paid Leave for Unpaid Leave 58
Employee Responsibilities 58
Employer Responsibilities 59
Certification of Health Care Provider 59
Return to Work 59
Unlawful Acts by Employers 60
Enforcement 60
Food Service and Lunch 60
Garnishments 61
Helpline 61
Hours of Work 62
Housekeeping 62
Inspection 62
Items Not Allowed on Company Property 63
Job Opportunities 63
Job Training 63
Lactation Policy 63
Leaving the Company 63
Lockers 64
Lost and Found 64
Medical Passes 64

Medical Services 65
Messages, Mail and Parcel Post 66
Military Service 66
Enlistment or Induction 66
National Guard or Military Reserve 66
Training Duty 67
Active Duty 67
Civil Emergencies 67
MySuccess 68
Notary Public 68
Open Door Policy 68
Parking Policy 68
Passes 69
Employee Pass 69
Package Pass 69
Probationary Period 69
Quality 69
Recognition 70
Safety 70
Accidents 70
Fire Protection 70
Personal Protective Equipment 70
Eye Protection 71
Hearing Protection 71
Scholarship Fund 71
Security Services 71
Smoking/Tobacco 72
Teamwork 72
Time Recording 72
Visitor Policy 72
Workers' Compensation 73

5. QUESTIONS ABOUT THE HANDBOOK 77

Introduction

INTRODUCTION

TimkenSteel Corporation

Corporate Offices
1835 Dueber Avenue S.W.
Canton, Ohio 44706
Phone: 330-471-7000
Website: www.timkensteel.com

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

All employees and applicants shall be treated equally according to their individual qualifications, abilities, experiences and other employment standards. There will be no discrimination due to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, disability, genetic information, gender or gender identity, sexual orientation, covered veteran status or any other basis protected by applicable law.

NOTICE

THIS HANDBOOK IS USED BY TIMKENSTEEL CORPORATION. ANY REFERENCES IN THIS HANDBOOK TO "TIMKENSTEEL", "COMPANY", "EMPLOYER" OR SIMILAR TERMS, SHALL REFER TO THE CORPORATION THAT IS YOUR EMPLOYER (I.E., PAYS YOUR WAGES OR SALARY).

INTRODUCTION AND DISCLAIMER

This handbook is intended to provide employees with a general understanding of TimkenSteel's personnel policies and general guidelines for the conduct of employees of the company. It is impossible to address every situation that will arise during the course of your employment. We have explained some of the rules, regulations and policies of the company, and it is each employee's responsibility to become familiar with these policies. If you have a question or do not understand any of the materials, you should ask your supervisor, your manager, or a representative of the human resources/organizational advancement department to clarify your uncertainty.

This handbook supersedes all earlier versions of personnel manuals or employee handbooks. All employee handbooks remain the property of the company. Under no circumstances is this handbook, in total or in part, to be reproduced without the written approval of the Manager – Employee Relations and Compliance.

TimkenSteel Corporation

A Message from our President and CEO

TimkenSteel: We are a new company with a century of experience. This is an exciting time for us all – a time that has required adapting to great change in pursuit of great opportunity. Through all that, our core values remain a steadfast foundation for the company and our conduct as professionals.

Those values of ethics, integrity, quality, innovation and independence guide us in our daily work. They inspire the trust of our customers, communities and shareholders. They underpin this collaborative and solutions-oriented culture we've created together.

This handbook reflects those values, providing you with a guide to our policies and practices. Take the time to understand this guide to employee conduct and join me in putting it into practice every day.

Thank you for all you do to make TimkenSteel a great company!

Sincerely,

Tim Timken
Chairman and CEO

CORE VALUES

ETHICS & INTEGRITY | QUALITY | INNOVATION | INDEPENDENCE

Ethics & Integrity

- We share a dedication to our founder's unwavering belief in ethics, honesty and respect.
- We show respect. We value each other, our suppliers, customers and communities.
- We act responsibly, exercising sound judgment in our dealings in accordance with our ethical standards and the law.

Quality

- We do what we say we will do, and our products perform as promised.
- We ensure the quality of our products and services through the thinking of our people and the rigor of our processes.

Innovation

- We solve problems every day, creating customized solutions to customers' toughest challenges.
- We know that progress depends on continuously improving all aspects of our business, and we actively advance those improvements.
- We create sustainable value through collaboration and a commitment to research and development.

Independence

- As a problem-solving culture, we encourage independent thinking to create collective action for the benefit of our stakeholders.
- We shape our future by leading the industry and creating value for all constituents.

Conduct and Responsibilities

CONDUCT AND RESPONSIBILITIES

INTRODUCTION

There are certain standards of common honesty and decent human behavior that are an integral part of good citizenship and respect for the rights of others. Most people follow these standards. For the few exceptions found in any large group of people, however, we find it necessary to list the rules of conduct.

YOUR CONDUCT AND RESPONSIBILITIES

If you do not understand any one or more of the following rules, be sure to discuss it with your supervisor as soon as possible.

CATEGORY I

Violation of any one of the following rules causes your discharge without warning:

1. Falsification of any reports, report-offs pertaining to absence from work, claims pertaining to injuries occurring on Company premises, claims for any benefits provided by the Company, communications or records including personnel and production records.
2. Giving false fire alarms, causing false fire alarms to be given or tampering with plant protection equipment.
3. Restricting output or persuading others to do so, or promoting, encouraging, agitating, fomenting, engaging in or supporting strikes, suspension of work, slowdowns or any other interruption of production in breach of contract.
4. Improper picketing of Company premises.
5. Sabotage or subversive activity of any kind.
6. Misuse or removal from the premises, without proper authorization, of any Company property or possession of any property removed from Company premises without proper authorization.
7. Bringing, using or having in possession cameras or weapons on Company premises at any time; bringing, using, having in possession, transporting, selling or promoting the use of alcohol, any intoxicant, any narcotic, any barbiturate, any amphetamine, any hallucinogen or any other stimulating or depressing drug on Company premises at any time.
8. Striking or manhandling another person or fighting while on the Company's premises at any time.
9. Striking a supervisor at any time in connection with any matter relating to employment.

10. Theft of any property on Company premises or theft of Company property at any time.
11. Willful abuse, or deliberate destruction of Company property, tools or equipment or of any property on Company premises at any time.
12. More than three garnishments in any one 12-month period resulting from more than one indebtedness.

(Any unauthorized absence of seven (7) consecutively scheduled work days shall be considered a voluntary quit.)

CATEGORY II

Violation of any one of following rules causes penalties ranging from time off to discharge from the Company:

13. Reporting for work at the gate under the influence of or when suffering from a hangover from alcohol, any intoxicant, any narcotic, any barbiturate, any amphetamine, any hallucinogen or any other stimulating or depressing drug.
14. Entering the plant under the influence of or when suffering from a hangover from alcohol, any intoxicant, any narcotic, any barbiturate, any amphetamine, any hallucinogen or any other stimulating or depressing drug.
15. Immoral or indecent conduct.
16. Threatening, intimidating, coercing or interfering with any person on Company premises at any time.
17. Sleeping on Company time.
18. Intentionally ringing the clock card of another or having another ring your clock card.

CATEGORY III

Violation of any of the following rules causes penalties ranging from a reprimand to discharge from the Company:

19. Low production.
20. Improper performance of job.
21. Handling or operating machines, tools or equipment that do not come within your authority.
22. Careless or negligent use or operation of Company tools or equipment.
23. Unauthorized making of personal articles on Company premises.
24. Violation of, or disregard of, safety rules or safety practices; carelessness, endangering the life or safety of another person.

25. Failure to immediately report injury or accident to Medical and to a supervisor upon return to department.
26. [Redacted]
27. Repeated violation of rules of conduct or safety rules.
28. Distracting the attention of others, or causing confusion by unnecessary shouting, catcalls, whistling or demonstration on Company premises.
29. Smoking in prohibited areas.
30. Creating or contributing to unsanitary or unclean conditions.
31. Horseplay.
32. Loafing on job and/or unwarranted failure to report on job or to stay on job assignment during working hours,
33. Walking off the job without proper authorization of supervision, other than to report for first aid.
34. Leaving your assignment before the end of a scheduled shift or visiting departments other than the one in which you are assigned to work without proper authorization of supervisor, other than to report for first aid.
35. Entering the plant or Company properties at any time other than to report for work without authorization; or leaving the plant after entering on regularly scheduled shift without exit pass.
36. Refusal or failure to work or to obey and carry out orders of supervision in connection with your work.
37. Failure to report off before start of scheduled shift. Failure to report when you will return after an absence, when required.
38. Use of abusive, profane or improper language to any employee or supervisors.
39. The making of false, vicious, or malicious statements concerning any employee, the Company or its products.
40. Insubordination.
41. Chronic and/or excessive absence from work.
42. Unauthorized absence.
43. Refusal to explain reason for absence from work.
44. Repeated tardiness.
45. Repeated failure to ring your own clock card.
46. Permitting another to use your badge or using another's badge.
47. Unauthorized use of Company telephone for personal affairs or conducting personal business on Company time and/or premises.
48. Soliciting for any purpose or collecting money for any purpose whatsoever on Company time, unless authorized in writing by the manager of the plant.
49. Gambling, lottery or any other game of chance on Company premises at any time or the possession of devices for the purpose of gambling.

50. Posting or removal of notices, signs or writing in any form on any bulletin board on Company property, at any time, without the specific approval of management.
51. Unauthorized or improper parking of motor vehicles on Company premises.

RETALIATION POLICY AND STATEMENT

No retaliation will be taken or will be permitted to be taken against anyone for raising any concern, question or complaint in good faith.

Any employee who attempts to engage in, or actually engages in, retaliation against:

1. An employee or any other person making a good faith complaint of unlawful or unethical behavior of any kind, or
2. Any individual who participates in an investigation of unlawful or unethical behavior, will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Specific acts of retaliation include, but are not limited to:

1. Disciplining any employee because that employee has complained about or resisted harassment, discrimination or retaliation, or engaging in conduct that would deter employees from reporting.
2. Intentionally pressuring, falsely denying, or otherwise covering or attempting to cover up such conduct as previously described.
3. Disciplining any employee for reporting a safety hazard.
4. Disciplining any employee because they were injured or became ill due to a work-related incident.
5. Intentionally pressuring employees to not report work-related injuries or illness by establishing incentives based on zero injuries/illnesses to the employee or employee's team members.

DRUG AND ALCOHOL ABUSE POLICY

TimkenSteel recognizes that our employees are a valuable resource and their health and safety is a significant concern. The company cannot accept any drug or alcohol use that it believes imperils the health, safety or well-being of its employees or threatens its business. The company will encourage and assist employees with a drug and/or alcohol problem in seeking professional diagnosis, treatment and rehabilitation.

DEFINITIONS

The following are definitions for purposes of this policy:

- "Company business" means on company premises at any time; in company-supplied vehicles at any location at any time; during working hours at any location at any time; or while representing the company in any official capacity.
- "Controlled substances" means the drugs and other substances listed in schedules I through V of the Controlled Substances Act and further defined by regulations under the act. Controlled substances include, but are not limited to, opiates, depressants, stimulants, hallucinogens and narcotic drugs.
- "Alcohol" includes distilled spirits, wine, malt beverages and other intoxicants.
- "Legal drugs" means prescription or over-the-counter drugs that are legally obtained by the employee.

PROHIBITIONS

The following are prohibited:

1. The unauthorized use or possession or any manufacture, storage, distribution, dispensation or sales of a controlled substance or alcohol on company business;
2. The improper use of legal drugs for any purpose other than that for which they were intended;
3. Being under the influence of or suffering from the effects of a controlled substance or alcohol on company business;
4. Other prohibitions referring to abuse of alcohol or controlled substances as set forth in this section of the Employee Handbook.

DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS/CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

If you violate any of these prohibitions, it may result in disciplinary action up to and including discharge.

You must abide by the terms of the Policy. Furthermore, you must notify the Company of any criminal drug statute conviction for a violation occurring on Company Business no later than five (5) days after such conviction.

COUNSELING, REHABILITATION AND ASSISTANCE

You are encouraged to notify your supervisor, manager and/or the company medical representative if you have an alcohol and/or drug-related problem. If there is "reasonable cause" that an employee is in violation of this policy, the employee may be subject to drug and/or alcohol testing procedures.

For information about the availability of community drug and alcohol abuse counseling, rehabilitation and assistance programs, please contact your plant medical representative.

CONFIDENTIALITY

It is recognized that to effectively assist employees with drug or alcohol problems, it may be necessary to consult with other persons in the process. Throughout the process, confidentiality of the information obtained will be maintained to protect an employee affected by this policy.

RETURN TO WORK

Employees who have successfully completed a rehabilitation program and test negative for drug use or alcohol dependency will be evaluated for return to work by a company medical representative. Thereafter, unannounced periodic drug testing may be scheduled.

EFFECT ON WORKERS' COMPENSATION ELIGIBILITY

A positive test or refusal/failure to submit to testing following an accident on company business may affect an employee's eligibility for workers' compensation benefits.

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS POLICY

PURPOSE

The purpose of this Electronic Communications Policy (the "Policy") is to give users clear guidance on the use of Electronic Communications.

SCOPE

This Policy applies to all Electronic Communications, unless otherwise noted in an applicable jurisdiction-specific / local law addendum.

DEFINED TERMS

"TimkenSteel" or "Company" means TimkenSteel Corporation and its majority-owned affiliates and subsidiaries.

"Authorized Devices" are electronic devices that are owned by a third party, including Users, and have been authorized by the Company to access Company IT Assets or to access, create, send, receive, transmit, store or process Company Electronic Communications or other Company data, files, or information. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, pagers, personal data assistants, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, or the like. Authorized Devices can include Users' personal electronic devices, if they have been authorized by the Company.

"Company Devices" are electronic devices that are owned, leased, issued or otherwise contracted for by the Company. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, pagers, personal data assistants, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, and the like.

"Company Electronic Communications" are Electronic Communications that are generated specifically in the furtherance of the Company's business.

"Company IT Assets" are Company Devices and Company IT Systems collectively.

"Company IT Systems" are any system, network, server, or the like that is owned, leased or otherwise contracted for by the Company and that is used to support or facilitate Company Devices, Electronic Communications, or other data or information storage and processing. Company IT Systems include, for example, the Company's electronic mail system, the Company's instant messaging system, the intranet, blogs, wikis, facsimile (fax), file transfers, electronic data interchange, audio and video teleconferencing, voice mail, and telephone systems.

"Electronic Communications" are any communication, whether personal or business, made in electronic form. Electronic communications include, for example, information or data transmitted by electronic mail, instant messaging or electronic chat, voicemail, facsimile, file transfer, electronic data interchange, and audio and video teleconferencing, or through the internet or intranet.

"Sensitive Company Information" means information relating to the Company that is confidential, proprietary or otherwise not generally known. Sensitive Company Information includes, for example, project plans, product designs, technical drawings, work product information, confidential Company financial information, business strategies, customers, potential customers, agents, suppliers, Company pricing, securities and trade secret information, legally-privileged information, personally identifiable information of customers or employees, or other proprietary information.

"Users" are all employees of the Company and all other individuals who have access to Company IT Assets.

POLICY STATEMENT

General Policy: Like all other data, files, or other information, Electronic Communications that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored or processed via Company IT Assets are Company property. Company Electronic Communications are Company property whether accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored or processed via Company IT Assets or Authorized Devices.

Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements: This Policy is subject to applicable local law restrictions, which may vary from the provisions contained herein. Please refer to any jurisdiction-specific / local law addendums attached to this Policy that modify the application of this Policy in your local jurisdiction. Contact your Employee or Industrial Relations for questions about applicability.

Company Right to Monitor and Access: All Electronic Communications that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets, whether personal or business, and whether in final, draft, or deleted form, are not considered private, despite any contrary designation. The Company reserves the right to monitor, access, edit, discard, preserve, divert, divulge and otherwise manage or use all Electronic Communications on Company IT Assets, whether personal or business, and whether in final, draft, or deleted form, at any time and without notice in order to respond to subpoenas and court orders, to otherwise comply with the law, to investigate complaints and allegations, to prevent harassing or threatening messages, to enforce this Policy, to enforce other policies of the Company, for security checks, for maintenance purposes, or as the Company otherwise determines is necessary in its sole determination. Additionally, public websites, including social media sites, are subject to monitoring by the Company at any time and without notice. The Company may take possession of and search any Company Devices or Authorized Devices used to access Company IT Systems or generate Company Electronic Communications in order to facilitate such rights, and any User who fails to comply with a request by the Company for such search will be deemed in violation of this policy. If possible illegal activity is detected, Electronic Communications that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets or Authorized Devices may be provided to law enforcement.

Disclosure and Interception of Electronic Communications: Users may not intercept or disclose, or assist in intercepting or disclosing, Electronic Communications of another User that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets unless specifically authorized by the Company or such other User.

Electronic Communications Content: The following standards apply to all Electronic Communications accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets, whether personal or business, and all Company Electronic Communications:

- The Electronic Communication must not violate any law.
- Users should exercise professionalism and judgment, and take the most prudent action possible, complying with this and all other Company policies including, for example, the Code of Conduct, the Company's solicitation and distribution policy and the Company's policy against harassment and discrimination. Electronic Communications should never contain any defamatory, sexually oriented, obscene, harassing, threatening, illegal or fraudulent language.
- The Company logo and trademarks may not be used in any form without explicit prior permission in writing from the communications department, unless otherwise permitted by law.
- Users must comply with policies related to confidentiality, non-disclosure, privileged information and intellectual property protections such as copyright, trademark and fair use laws.

Sensitive Company Information: Sensitive Company Information shall not be transmitted via an Electronic Communication unless secured according to standards established by the information technology department, and even then, only to necessary and authorized recipients.

User Identification: The user name, electronic mail address, organizational affiliation and related information included on all Company Electronic Communications and all Electronic Communications that are created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets must reflect the actual originator of the communication.

VIOLATIONS

Violations of this Policy can result in disciplinary action, up to and including discharge. For non-employees, violations can result in contract termination and other remedies as allowed by contract and/or law.

REFERENCES

Use of Company Information Technology Assets Policy
Information Security Policy
Social Networking Policy
Code of Conduct
Employee Handbook, where applicable

POLICY AUTHORITY

Any and all amendments or changes to this Policy must be approved in advance by the Information Security Governance Council. Final interpretation of this Policy will be by the General Counsel.

CONTACTS

Vice President-Communications
Director-Information Technology
Manager-Information Security
General Counsel

ENVIRONMENTAL, HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

TimkenSteel is guided by its core values – ethics, integrity, quality, innovation and independence. With this strong foundation, our global policy is to operate safely and responsibly to protect our employees, our suppliers, our customers, and our environment. We are committed to continuously improving our environmental, health and safety (EHS) performance and going beyond legal compliance. By doing so, we will create a safe and healthy workplace, take responsible care of environmental resources and develop sustainable technologies and business practices that contribute to global economic growth and prosperity.

Every TimkenSteel employee is responsible for understanding and supporting this policy and the following objectives:

- Comply with all EHS laws, regulations, company policies and standards and require the same from our suppliers.
- Make EHS performance a priority in our business and operations planning and decision-making.
- Demand employees and contractors to always conduct their activities safely and responsibly. We help them do this through education and training.
- Identify and assess risks, and potential hazards that can affect our EHS performance and quickly take corrective action.
- Support environmental sustainability through pollution prevention, waste management, recycling, and energy conservation.
- Measure and assess our progress toward our EHS objectives and communicate this annually to stakeholders.

Managers will provide the leadership for achieving all EHS objectives. Likewise, we expect every TimkenSteel employee to contribute through decision-making and actions that are consistent with these objectives. This policy applies to all operations and facilities of TimkenSteel Corporation and subsidiaries.

HARASSMENT POLICY

PROHIBITION ON UNLAWFUL HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION

It is the policy of the company to provide a work environment free from all types of unlawful discrimination and harassment, including sexual harassment and harassment based on an individual's race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, disability, genetic information, gender or gender identity, sexual orientation, covered veteran status or any other basis protected by applicable law. Accordingly, the company will not tolerate unlawful discrimination, sexual harassment or any other types of unlawful harassment, whether engaged in by management, other employees or other individuals with whom our employees come into contact as part of their employment.

Unlawful harassment is defined as any verbal or physical conduct, which has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an employee's work performance or of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive work environment, or which otherwise adversely affects an employee's employment, when that conduct is based on gender or gender identity, race, color, national origin, ancestry, religion, age, disability, sexual orientation, covered veteran status or any other basis protected by applicable law.

Sexual harassment is one form of prohibited harassment. Examples of other prohibited forms of harassment include ethnic slurs, racial "jokes," offensive or derogatory comments, bringing onto company facilities (including company computer systems) offensive literature or photographs, or any other verbal or physical conduct based on the characteristics described above, if the conduct creates an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment or interferes with an individual's work performance or employment.

Unlawful harassment does not refer to behavior of a socially acceptable nature. It refers to behavior that is not welcome, is personally offensive, fails to respect the rights of others, lowers morale or interferes with work effectiveness.

You are expected to comply with this policy, and members of management are expected to take appropriate measures to ensure that conduct prohibited by this policy does not occur.

Disciplinary action up to and including termination from employment will be taken against employees who violate this policy. The company retains the right to take action with respect to other inappropriate conduct, even though that conduct may not constitute harassment under this policy.

HARASSMENT - SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY

Sexual harassment is illegal under federal and state law, and the company condemns and prohibits sexual harassment of any employee, customer, client, person performing services to the company or any other third party interacting with the company.

Sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to:

- Verbal harassment, including but not limited to sexual talk, suggestive jokes, or slurs;
- Physical harassment such as assault, patting, squeezing, rubbing, impeding or blocking movement, or any other physical interference with normal work or movement directed at an individual;
- Non-verbal behavior such as suggestive looks, staring or leering;
- Visual harassment, such as derogatory pictures, posters, calendars, graffiti, cartoons, gestures, objects, screensavers, reading materials and the like (regardless of whether such visual harassment occurs by way of the Internet, email, paper form or any other method of delivery); or
- Unwelcome sexual advances, sexually-oriented remarks or comments, threats of reprisal after a negative response to sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, offers of employment benefits in exchange for sexual favors, particularly under the following non-exhaustive circumstances:
    1. If the submission to such conduct is made a term or condition of working at the company; or
    2. If the submission to or rejection of such conduct is the basis for employment decisions; or
    3. If such conduct unreasonably interferes with the individual's work performance or has the effect of creating an intimidating, hostile or offensive working environment; or
    4. If such conduct is made a term or condition of doing business with the company.
- Conduct or statements that are not necessarily motivated by sexual attraction or desire but that are directed at an individual because of that person's sex (e.g., if one person viciously yells at or otherwise mistreats or demeans persons of one sex, but not the other).

Furthermore, employees must be aware that sexual harassment can involve males or females being harassed by members of the opposite or same sex.

Although sexual harassment often involves a person in a greater position of authority as the harasser, individuals in positions of lesser or equal authority also can be found responsible and individually liable for engaging in unlawful harassment. Consensual sexual or romantic relationships where one employee has supervisory authority over the other employee are strongly discouraged.

HARASSMENT AND DISCRIMINATION REPORTING POLICY

TimkenSteel takes an affirmative role in protecting its employees from unlawful discrimination and unlawful harassment. If you believe that you have been the subject of unlawful harassment, as prohibited by this policy, you must report the situation immediately to one of the following persons:

- Your supervisor;
- Your manager;
- Human resources/organizational advancement representative for your facility; or
- Human resources/organizational advancement manager for your business unit or a corporate human resources/organizational advancement specialist.

If you need help identifying or contacting these persons or if you are dissatisfied with the response to your report, contact the TimkenSteel HelpLine (1-855-754-2921 or www.timkensteel.ethicspoint.com).

The company will fully and effectively review and, if necessary, investigate the facts and circumstances of your complaint. Your identity will be held confidential to the greatest extent possible. However, in order to conduct an effective investigation and take proper corrective measures to stop the unlawful conduct, the company may need to disclose certain sensitive information on a need-to-know basis. Therefore, the company cannot guarantee complete confidentiality or privacy in connection with such a complaint.

At the conclusion of the investigation, the company will take appropriate action as indicated by the results of the investigation, including taking all corrective and remedial action necessary to end any unlawful discrimination or harassment that may have occurred. You will be informed after appropriate action has been taken.

RETALIATION STATEMENT

Any employee who attempts to engage in, or actually engages in, retaliation against: (1) an employee or any other person making a good faith complaint of unlawful discrimination or unlawful harassment or (2) any individual who participates in an investigation of unlawful discrimination or unlawful harassment will be subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

Specific acts of retaliation include, but are not limited to:

1. Disciplining any employee because that employee has complained about or resisted harassment, discrimination or retaliation, or engaging in any conduct that would deter employees from reporting.
2. Intentionally pressuring, falsely denying, or otherwise covering or attempting to cover up such conduct as previously described.

INFORMATION SECURITY POLICY

INTRODUCTION

Information and associated information technology resources are absolutely essential to the day-to-day operations of the company, including but not limited to, manufacturing, shipping, customer service, research, inventory control, payroll and financial records. It is important for each employee to follow procedures outlined in this policy and take actions necessary to prevent unauthorized access to valuable information on paper documents, computer files, voice mail, email, or other mediums. Without proper information protection, the company could suffer a loss of customer confidence, market share, competitive advantage and, ultimately, jobs.

PRINCIPLES

Information, including but not limited to the company's strategies, plans, actions, forecasts, sales and earnings, financial condition, contractual relationships, research, discoveries, products, services, processes, suppliers/vendors, customers and similar proprietary and corporate data, regardless of the form or medium which contains such information, is considered an asset owned solely by the company. In many cases, such information constitutes confidential information or trade secrets that may cause severe damage to the company if disclosed to any third party. In addition, the company has in its possession the information of third parties and may, in some instances, have a legal obligation to protect that information as specified by contracts, licensing or other agreements or laws.

Valuable information in all forms must be protected against unauthorized access, use, disclosure, alteration or destruction. Information security control procedures must be in place in all areas to ensure the confidentiality, integrity and availability of important information. It is every employee's responsibility to understand and to exert the utmost duty of care to comply with this policy in a manner consistent with these principles.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all employees of the company and its subsidiaries. It is intended to supplement, but not replace, related policies, including but not limited to the Code of Conduct, Electronic Communications Policy and Visitor Policy. This policy also encompasses any agreement you may otherwise be bound by in relation to the protection of certain TimkenSteel or third-party information, such as a confidentiality or non-disclosure agreement.

This policy covers all company information, in any form and in any medium, including, but not limited to, paper documents, computer files, multimedia, facsimile, magnetic tapes, voice mail, wireless phones, PDAs, CDs, electronic mail, flash drives, microfiche, software, video/audio teleconferencing and verbal communications. This policy applies to information from the time that it is created to the time of its disposal, as well as during its processing, communication, distribution and storage. All associated information technologies, such as computers, data storage devices, communications devices, are also covered.

RESPONSIBILITIES

All employees of the company are required to protect information in accordance with this policy. Each employee is expected to exercise sound judgment in all matters involving information and to refrain from any conduct that could expose the assets of the company to misuse or loss. Each business and corporate center is responsible to determine in coordination with Information Security and Compliance, Corporate Security, Global Information Services, Law Center, Employee Services and Internal Audit, proper levels of protection for its information and the information under its control and to apply necessary information security procedures to protect that information.

INFORMATION SECURITY PROCEDURES

The following outlines the procedures and practices for employees to protect information that they use or control.

The company reserves the right to monitor and audit the use of its information and associated resources to ensure that needed levels of information security are being met. All employees are permitted to use information and associated information technology resources subject to the following conditions:

- Use information and communications systems only as authorized for company business or other approved uses and only as is necessary and authorized in relation to your task, i.e., disclose certain information to others, even other TimkenSteel personnel, on a “need-to-know” basis.
- Comply with all applicable TimkenSteel or third-party requirements, such as confidentiality or non-disclosure agreements, to protect the integrity, security and value of TimkenSteel information and/or those third parties who entrust us with their own information. Each employee is responsible for determining if there are any special obligations unique to his/her job responsibilities.

- If you have any questions as to whether you are governed by such an agreement or the terms and obligations of such an agreement, you should contact your immediate supervisor or your human resources/organizational advancement representative to resolve those questions.
- Ensure that all outside parties (e.g., contractors, suppliers, consultants, etc.) sign, prior to the release of confidential or proprietary company information, agreements which impose on the receiving party an obligation to protect company information and restrict its use as directed by TimkenSteel Corporation.
- Protect information in all forms (paper, email, flash drives, computer files, CDs, etc.) and information technology resources (e.g., communication systems, software, etc.) from theft, tampering, misuse, malicious software (e.g., computer viruses), destruction and loss.
- Provide appropriate physical security to prevent unauthorized access to information and related equipment and software that need protection from theft, unauthorized disclosure, damage or destruction.
- This includes, but is not limited to: the wearing of security/identification badges in accordance with company policy wherever applicable; avoiding leaving documents or information unattended, particularly in areas of public access; locking offices, rooms, desks, drawers and file cabinets; disposing of information in accordance with established retention/disposal schedules; clearly marking documents or information as “confidential”; and immediately retrieving information on fax machines, copy machines and printers.
- Understand the security features available using the various types of media and technologies to ensure that the required security is available and used.
- Use only company provided equipment, devices and software (e.g., Personal Computers, wireless cards, anti-virus software, client firewalls, PDAs) when connected to the TimkenSteel network locally or remotely. Any exceptions must be explicitly authorized by Information Security and Compliance on a case-by-case basis.
- Do not attempt to circumvent controls intended to protect information and related resources. Do not attempt to exploit vulnerabilities or deficiencies in security features. All vulnerabilities and deficiencies should be promptly reported to Information Security and Compliance.
- Treat passwords and other system access information (e.g., Personal Identification Numbers, long distance access codes, dial-up access telephone numbers) as confidential. Attempts to learn the passwords of others, discover unprotected files or to decode encrypted files are specifically prohibited, unless authorized to do so.
- Do not share UserIDs assigned for individual use and do not allow the unattended sharing of your PC or logged on applications or systems. This applies to all persons, including computer support and others who have special privileges to administer servers, applications and other computer resources.

- Do not leave your workstation, personal computer or terminal unattended for unreasonable periods of time without first logging off, disconnecting or using some other method (e.g., password-protected screensaver) so that others cannot access network resources using your UserID. All personal computers must be protected with a password-protected screensaver that is automatically displayed after ten minutes or less of inactivity.
- Persons having access to information whose protection is mandated by law, regulation or TimkenSteel policy (e.g., medical information, salaries) must always lock their workstation, personal computer or terminal when it is left unattended for any period of time. Such individuals should not rely upon the password-protected screensaver.
- Do not use software that is designed to cause unauthorized destruction of data, provide unauthorized access or disrupt computing processes in any way. The use of viruses, worms or any other invasive software is expressly forbidden. Virus scanning software should be used on a regular basis to scan for signs of malicious software.
- Do not use monitoring hardware and/or software (e.g., sniffers, network scanners) or special privileges, such as those required to provide computer support or administer servers and application, except as explicitly authorized by Information Security and Compliance.
- Obtain client permission and acceptance for all PC remote control sessions. The use of "stealth" mode to gain access without the user's explicit acceptance is expressly prohibited. Any exceptions must be approved by Information Security and Compliance.
- Dispose of hardware, software and computer-related supplies and documentation in a way which does not compromise security or result in the accidental disclosure of company-sensitive material.
- Safeguard the intellectual property rights of all patents, copyrights, inventions, trade secrets, computer software or other intellectual property.
- Use the company's Internet connections and resources, if authorized to do so, in accordance with the Internet Security Policy. Do not use the company's Internet connections or resources for inappropriate or unauthorized use, such as connecting with websites that contain sexually explicit, racist, violent or other offensive material.

COMPLIANCE

All employees of the company are expected to comply with this policy and associated information security directives. Compliance with policies and standards is mandatory. Security policies must be applied so that security measures fully comply with the laws and regulations applicable to the specific location. Penalties for non-compliance will include disciplinary action up to and including termination. Additionally, certain breaches of this policy may subject employees to civil and criminal penalties depending upon the nature of the offense.

SECURITY INCIDENT REPORTING

All actual or suspected instances of unauthorized access to protected information or any inappropriate use, disclosure, alteration or destruction, as well as potential threats (e.g., hackers, computer viruses, fire, high winds, etc.) or obvious information security control weaknesses, must be reported immediately.

Such report should be made to the manager/supervisor of the area, Information Security and Compliance and to the appropriate local security department. If anonymity is required, employees may call the TimkenSteel HelpLine at 1-855-754-2921, or a web allegation can be submitted at www.timkensteel.ethicspoint.com.

If the incident involves immediate loss of corporate information or danger to human life due to hazards, weather, fire or natural disaster, the corporate or the appropriate local security department must be contacted. If you require additional information or if you have any questions or suggestions regarding this policy, please contact Security Services at (330) 471-3360.

INTERNET SECURITY POLICY

The Internet has been a useful tool for employees for many years. It has provided information and communications that have assisted many employees in the performance of their job functions. It has become part of our everyday life at work and home.

As with other company systems and equipment, the Internet is to be used as authorized for company business and other approved uses. The company depends upon the good judgment of its employees to use the Internet in accordance with TimkenSteel policies and instructions, as well as any applicable laws and regulations. Compliance is required regardless of whether TimkenSteel has implemented technical methods to block prohibited uses. At any time and without prior notice, company management reserves the right to examine electronic mail messages, files on personal computers, web browser cache files, web browser bookmarks and other information stored on or passing through company computers. The review access is used to assure compliance with internal policies, assist with internal investigations, and is required for the management of company information systems.

If you are authorized to use the Internet, use it according to this policy. Do not use the company's Internet connections or resources for inappropriate or unauthorized use, such as connecting with websites that contain sexually explicit, racist, violent or other offensive material. If you use TimkenSteel Internet access and equipment for inappropriate or unauthorized uses, it is a violation of company policy and may result in discipline up to and including termination.

COMPANY RIGHT TO MONITOR AND ACCESS

In order to ensure the company's electronic communications systems are being utilized for lawful and acceptable uses, the company reserves the right to access, intercept, monitor, copy, review and download any communications or files you create or maintain on these systems, including but not limited to monitoring chat groups, blogs and news groups, reviewing material downloaded or uploaded by employees, reviewing email and voicemail sent and received by employees, and reviewing employees' access and use of the Internet. As a condition of access to these systems, employees waive any right to privacy in anything they create, store, send or receive on company electronic communications systems. Therefore, you should not expect that any information sent, received or stored on these electronic communications systems is private or confidential in any manner whatsoever.

As set forth above, users must recognize that their email use, access to the Internet and access and use of all electronic communications systems provided to them by the company are not confidential in nature. Therefore, employees must exercise caution and discretion in their communications and treat all email and other communications and uses as if they were being disclosed to other individuals. Employees must notify management of unsolicited, offensive materials received by any employee on any of these electronic communications systems.

PRIVACY LEGISLATION

In some countries, the collection, storage, use and disclosure of personal information, and the transfer of personal and/or customer information to other countries, may be subject to privacy legislation and restrictions. Please contact your manager/supervisor or legal services if you have questions regarding the protection of personal information or the transfer of personal information to another country.

POLICY VIOLATIONS

For employees, violations of this policy can result in disciplinary action, up to and including termination. For non-employees, violations can result in contract termination and other remedies as allowed by contract and/or law. Failure by the company to previously pursue any act which is a violation of this policy (or otherwise tolerate such violation) prior to the effective date, set forth above, is not a waiver of the company's right to pursue and discipline a user for a violation of this policy after the effective date.

QUESTIONS

Questions regarding this policy should be directed to legal services.

SOCIAL NETWORKING POLICY

PURPOSE

Many TimkenSteel employees ("users") access and communicate via social media both in their personal and professional lives. The purpose of this Social Networking Policy (the "Policy") is to give Users guidance on their social networking activities as they relate to TimkenSteel Corporation information and/or devices.

SCOPE

This Policy applies to all social networking activities by Users other than as an officially designated representative of the Company, whether via Company IT Assets, Authorized Devices, or Users' own personal devices, unless otherwise noted in an applicable jurisdiction-specific / local law addendum. Social networking activities conducted as an official representative of the Company are covered by the Company's Social Media Use by Authorized Employees Policy.

Social networking activities include, for example, the creation or distribution of information via blogs, message boards, communities, wikis, vlogs, posts, discussions, and sites such as Twitter, Instagram, Snapchat, Orkut, YouTube, Facebook, LinkedIn, Wikipedia, Flickr, Groupon, Foursquare, Second Life, Yammer, RenRen and the like. Social networking activities also include use of internal social media on the Company's intranet.

DEFINED TERMS

"TimkenSteel" or "Company" means TimkenSteel Corporation and its majority-owned affiliates and subsidiaries.

"Authorized Devices" are electronic devices that are owned by a third party, including Users, and have been authorized by the Company to access Company IT Assets or to access, create, send, receive, transmit, store or process Company Electronic Communications or other Company data, files, or information. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, or the like. Authorized Devices can include Users' personal electronic devices, if they have been authorized by the Company.

"Company Devices" are electronic devices that are owned, leased, issued or otherwise contracted for by the Company. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, and the like.

"Company Electronic Communications" are Electronic Communications that are generated specifically in the furtherance of the Company's business.

"Company IT Assets" are Company Devices and Company IT Systems collectively.

"Company IT Systems" are any system, network, server, or the like that is owned, leased or otherwise contracted for by the Company and that is used to support or facilitate Company Devices, Electronic Communications, or other data or information storage and processing. Company IT Systems include, for example, the Company's electronic mail system, the Company's instant messaging system, the intranet, blogs, wikis, facsimile (fax), file transfers, electronic data interchange, audio and video teleconferencing, voice mail, and telephone systems.

"Electronic Communications" are any communication, whether personal or business, made in electronic form. Electronic communications include, for example, information or data transmitted by electronic mail, instant messaging or electronic chat, voicemail, facsimile, file transfer, electronic data interchange, and audio and video teleconferencing, or through the internet or intranet.

"Sensitive Company Information" means information relating to the Company that is confidential, proprietary or otherwise not generally known. Sensitive Company Information includes, for example, project plans, product designs, technical drawings, work product information, confidential Company financial information, business strategies, customers, potential customers, agents, suppliers, Company pricing, securities and trade secret information, legally-privileged information, personally identifiable information of customers or employees, or other proprietary information.

"Users" are all employees of the Company and all other individuals who have access to Company IT Assets.

POLICY STATEMENT

General Policy: In the Company's sole discretion, certain social media may be made accessible from Company IT Assets. In limited circumstances, certain employees may be assigned to officially sanctioned projects for the Company that have been approved by their manager and the manager of information security and compliance and may be granted access to social networking sites that are otherwise made inaccessible to Users. Such employees must comply with the Company's Social Media Use by Authorized Employees Policy. This Policy is not intended to discourage your social networking activities nor is it intended to restrict any activity authorized by law.

Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements: This Policy is subject to applicable local law restrictions, which may vary from the provisions contained herein. Please refer to any jurisdiction-specific / local law addendums attached to this Policy that modify the application of this Policy in your local jurisdiction. Contact Employee or Industrial Relations for questions about applicability.

Company Right to Monitor and Access: Social networking activities via Company IT Assets, including the social media content and communications accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, or stored on Company IT Assets, are subject to the provisions of the Electronic Communications Policy and all other Company policies. This means that social networking activities and communications accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets, whether business or personal, and whether in final, draft, or deleted form, are Company property, are not considered private, and are subject to monitoring by the Company at any time and without notice. Additionally, public websites, including social media sites, are subject to monitoring by the Company at any time and without notice. If possible illegal activity is detected, social media activities and communications that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets may be provided to law enforcement.

Social Networking Content: The following guidelines apply to Users when engaging in social networking activities:

- Social networking activities must not interfere with work commitments or otherwise violate the Company's policies.
- When engaging in social networking activities via Company IT Assets, Users should exercise professionalism and judgment, and take the most prudent action possible, complying with this and all other applicable Company policies including, for example, the Code of Conduct, the Company's solicitation and distribution policy and the Company's policy against harassment and discrimination. Social networking activities via Company IT Assets should never contain any defamatory, sexually oriented, obscene, harassing, threatening, illegal or fraudulent language.
- Like any other communication, social networking activities are subject to the same confidentiality, non-disclosure, privileged-information, and intellectual-property protection obligations that apply to employees and Users generally.
- Users are prohibited from disclosing to or discussing with any unauthorized person any Sensitive Company Information without the prior, express written consent of an authorized representative of the Company, such as the legal department. Special care must be taken to protect confidential information of the Company's customers and employees and to protect the security of the Company's customers' trade secrets and other proprietary information.

- Copyright laws apply to social networking activities. Users must adhere to copyright, trademark and fair use laws when engaging in social networking activities via Company IT Assets.
- Company logos and trademarks may not be used without prior written consent of the communications department, unless otherwise permitted by law.
- All inquiries from the media about the Company's current and potential products, agents, customers, or competitors, must be referred without response to the communications department.
- Notwithstanding the foregoing, nothing in this policy shall be construed to limit, in any way, your rights under any applicable federal, state or local laws, including, but not limited to the National Labor Relations Act.

Representing the Company: No one may act as a representative of the Company in social networking activities, including on social media sites, unless prior authorization has been obtained from the communications department. When communicating via social media as an authorized representative of the Company, employees must comply with the Company's policy on Social Media Use by Authorized Employees.

User Identification: Statements made during social networking activities by Users could be attributed to the Company and may be regulated by law, such as the Federal Trade Commission's regulations on endorsements and testimonials, due to the Users' relationship with the Company. Accordingly, when discussing the Company, its products, employees, partners, customers, competitors or their products in any forum, including via social media, Users who are not authorized to act as a representative of the Company must (1) identify their relationship to the Company; and (2) clearly state that the views expressed are their own and not those of the Company.

VIOLATIONS

For employees, violations of this Policy can result in disciplinary action, up to and including discharge. For non-employees, violations can result in contract termination and other remedies as allowed by contract and/or law.

REFERENCES

Use of Company Information Technology Assets Policy
Information Security Policy
Social Networking Policy
Code of Conduct
Employee Handbook, where applicable

POLICY AUTHORITY

Any and all amendments or changes to this Policy must be approved in advance by the Information Security Governance Council. Final interpretation of this Policy will be by the General Counsel.

CONTACTS

Vice President-Communications
Director-Information Technology
Manager-Information Security
General Counsel

TRADING IN STOCK

There are two versions of this statement of policy. This version is for distribution to all TimkenSteel hourly and salaried employees. A more stringent policy is distributed to executives who are more likely to have access to material, non-public information.

USE AND DISCLOSURE OF MATERIAL, NON-PUBLIC INFORMATION RESTRICTED

In the course of your employment at TimkenSteel, you may have access to material, non-public information regarding the company, its subsidiaries, its customers, its prospective customers or other individuals and/or companies. This material, non-public information may include matters about the company's financial condition, its strategic plans (including acquisitions) or other important events that could affect the market price of the company's securities. All such information must be kept confidential and not disclosed, except as may be necessary in the performance of your specific job duties.

This policy is designed to make employees more fully aware of the prohibitions against improper use and disclosure of material, non-public information. It applies to all stock or security trades consummated by employees, whether in company stock and securities, or stock and securities of customers, suppliers or others.

EXAMPLES OF MATERIAL, NON-PUBLIC INFORMATION

In general, information is "non-public" until it is publicly disseminated, which can occur by the issuance of a press release, disclosure in a document filed with the SEC or through a public Web cast.

Non-public information is generally deemed to be material if a reasonable investor would consider it important or significant in a decision to buy, hold or sell stock or securities. Although the materiality of information may vary depending on the circumstances of each case, the following information about a company is almost always considered material:

1. Unpublished financial results;
2. Unpublished sales statistics;
3. Proposed acquisitions, divestitures, mergers and takeovers;
4. Proposed new security issuances;
5. Substantial purchases, sales, borrowings, recapitalizations or other corporate action;
6. Liquidity or cash problems or defaults under debt agreements;
7. Pending discoveries or new products;
8. Obtaining or losing a major contract or customer;
9. Change in control or significant changes in senior-level management or in the business or personal lives of senior-level management;
10. The existence of and risks associated with significant threatened or pending litigation; and
11. Significant regulatory proceedings and governmental investigations involving the company.

This list is not exhaustive and, depending upon the circumstances, other information can be material. You should always treat information as material if you have any reason to believe that it may be important. When in doubt, call the General Counsel.

TRANSACTIONS INVOLVING COMPANY STOCK - PROHIBITED ACTS

Trading on Inside Information Prohibited

All employees are prohibited, by law, from trading (buying or selling) stock or securities of any company while the employee is in possession of material, non-public information about that company. This prohibition applies regardless of the dollar amount of the trade or the source of the non-public information.

"Tipping" Prohibited

Except when necessary in the course of performing job duties, all employees are prohibited from disclosing to anyone, including family members, any material, non-public information about any company. Also, all covered employees are prohibited from making buy or sell recommendations to anyone based on such "inside information."

"Stop Loss" Orders Prohibited

Employees are prohibited from placing any "stop loss" orders or any other "limit order" or "standing order" involving company stock.

Speculative Trading Prohibited

You are encouraged to consider a purchase of company stock as a long-term investment reflecting a vote of confidence in the long-term prospects of the company. Consistent with that philosophy, employees are prohibited from engaging in any speculative transactions involving company stock or securities including:

1. Buying or selling puts or calls;
2. Short sales; or
3. Purchase of company stock on margin.

PERMITTED TRANSACTIONS

Employees who are not in possession of material, non-public information may trade in company stock whenever they choose to do so. However, the preferred and safest time is during certain designated window periods, as described below.

PREFERRED WINDOW PERIODS FOR TRADING COMPANY STOCK

Window periods commence with the third business day following the release of any quarterly financial results and continue until the end of the month following the month of the earnings release, so long as the employee is not in possession of material, non-public information. For example, if quarterly financial results are released in July, the window period terminates at the end of August. To determine exact dates, contact the General Counsel. Trading during these window periods will help to avoid any appearance of impropriety.

401(k) PLAN PURCHASES

Regular monthly purchases of stock pursuant to the 401(k) Plan may continue to occur as they have in the past. Transfers to or from the company stock fund portion of the covered employee's account under the plan, the taking out of loans from the plan and the repayment of loans from the plan should never be entered into when the covered employee is in possession of material, non-public information. Should any questions arise about this policy or its application to a particular transaction, you should contact the General Counsel.

INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY

Individuals who violate this policy may be violating the law. Penalties provided by law include (i) criminal liability (prison term up to 20 years and criminal fine up to $5,000,000 per violation), (ii) civil fines (up to three times the profit gained or loss avoided) regardless of whether the individual committing the violation actually benefitted, and (iii) more severe criminal penalties for knowingly defrauding any person in connection with any registered security.

USE OF COMPANY INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY ASSETS

PURPOSE

Information technology assets are essential business tools for the Company. The purpose of this Use of Company Information Technology ("IT") Assets Policy (the "Policy") is to give Users clear guidance on the use of Company IT Assets.

SCOPE

This Policy applies to all use of Company IT Assets, whether via Company Devices, Authorized Devices, or otherwise, unless otherwise noted in an applicable jurisdiction-specific / local law addendum.

DEFINED TERMS

"TimkenSteel" or "Company" means TimkenSteel Corporation and its majority-owned affiliates and subsidiaries.

"Authorized Devices" are electronic devices that are owned by a third party, including Users, and have been authorized by the Company to access Company IT Assets or to access, create, send, receive, transmit, store or process Company Electronic Communications or other Company data, files, or information. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, pagers, personal data assistants, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, or the like. Authorized Devices can include Users' personal electronic devices, if they have been authorized by the Company.

"Company Devices" are electronic devices that are owned, leased, issued or otherwise contracted for by the Company. Electronic devices include, for example, computers, laptops, tablets, cellular phones, pagers, personal data assistants, smartphones, removable storage media (e.g., discs, jump drives), air cards, and the like.

"Company Electronic Communications" are Electronic Communications that are generated specifically in the furtherance of the Company's business.

"Company IT Assets" are Company Devices and Company IT Systems collectively.

"Company IT Systems" are any system, network, server, or the like that is owned, leased or otherwise contracted for by the Company and that is used to support or facilitate Company Devices, Electronic Communications, or other data or information storage and processing. Company IT Systems include, for example, the Company's electronic mail system, the Company's instant messaging system, the intranet, blogs, wikis, facsimile (fax), file transfers, electronic data interchange, audio and video teleconferencing, voice mail, and telephone systems.

"Electronic Communications" are any communication, whether personal or business, made in electronic form. Electronic communications include, for example, information or data transmitted by electronic mail, instant messaging or electronic chat, voicemail, facsimile, file transfer, electronic data interchange, and audio and video teleconferencing, or through the internet or intranet.

"Sensitive Company Information" means information relating to the Company that is confidential, proprietary or otherwise not generally known. Sensitive Company Information includes, for example, project plans, product designs, technical drawings, work product information, confidential Company financial information, business strategies, customers, potential customers, agents, suppliers, Company pricing, securities and trade secret information, legally-privileged information, personally identifiable information of customers or employees, or other proprietary information.

"Users" are all employees of the Company and all other individuals who have access to Company IT Assets.

POLICY STATEMENT

General Policy: Company IT Assets are to be used for the primary purpose of supporting Company business. These tools are in place to facilitate Users' ability to do their jobs efficiently and productively. Use of Company IT Assets must be in compliance with this and all other Company policies including, for example, the Code of Conduct, the Company's solicitation and distribution policy and the Company's policy against harassment and discrimination. Use of Authorized Devices is subject to written approval by the Company. The Company reserves the right, in its sole discretion, to permit Authorized Devices to be used to access Company IT Assets. The Company also retains the right to discontinue such access or use at any time for any reason, without prior notice.

Jurisdiction-Specific or Local Law Requirements: This Policy is subject to applicable local law restrictions, which may vary from the provisions contained herein. Contact Employee or Industrial Relations for questions about applicability.

Company Right to Monitor and Access: All data, files, communications, or other information that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets, whether personal or business, and whether in final, draft, or deleted form, are not considered private, despite any contrary designation. The Company reserves the right to monitor, access, edit, discard, preserve, divert, divulge and otherwise manage or use all data, files, communications, or other information, whether personal or business related and whether in final, draft, or deleted form, accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on any and all Company IT Assets, at any time and without notice in order to respond to subpoenas and court orders, to otherwise comply with the law, to investigate complaints and allegations, to prevent harassing or threatening messages, to enforce this Policy, to enforce other policies of the Company, for security checks, for maintenance purposes, or as the Company otherwise determines is necessary in its sole discretion. Additionally, public websites, including social media sites, are subject to monitoring by the Company at any time and without notice. If possible illegal activity is detected, data, files, communications, or other information that are accessed, created, sent, received, transmitted, stored, or processed on Company IT Assets may be provided to law enforcement.

Data Privacy Legislation: In some countries, the collection, storage, use and disclosure of personal information (employee, customer, or otherwise), and the transfer of personal information to other countries, may be subject to privacy legislation and restrictions. As the scope of regulated personal information varies by country, contact your manager or the legal department if you have questions regarding the protection of personal information or the transfer of personal information to another country.

Security Obligations: Use of Company IT Assets is subject to Company policies on information security, including, for example, record retention, password policy and standards, electronic communications, internet usage, intranet usage, dial-up or remote access, virus protection and portable device protection. Users must not take any action that would compromise the security of Company IT Assets. This includes the unauthorized release or sharing of passwords and the intentional disabling of any security features of Company IT Assets. See Information Security Policy.

Compliance with Laws: Use of Company IT Assets must be in compliance with all laws and regulations. Company IT Assets may not be used for unauthorized download of content or material that infringes the copyright of any person.

Reporting Security Incidents: The Company takes seriously any threats – real or suspected – to the security and integrity of Company IT Assets. Users must immediately report any suspected security problem or misuse of Company IT Assets to the appropriate supervisor or by contacting the Manager-Information Security or Information Technology Helpdesk.

VIOLATIONS

For employees, violations of this Policy can result in disciplinary action, up to and including discharge. For non-employees, violations can result in contract termination and other remedies as allowed by contract or law.

REFERENCES

Electronic Communications Policy
Information Security Policy
Social Networking Policy
Code of Conduct
Employee Handbook, where applicable

POLICY AUTHORITY

Any and all amendments or changes to this Policy must be approved in advance by the Information Security Governance Council. Final interpretation of this Policy will be by the General Counsel.

CONTACTS

Director-Information Technology
Manager-Information Security
General Counsel

WORKPLACE DATING/ROMANCE

TimkenSteel does not prohibit workplace romances between employees. The company does desire to avoid misunderstandings, actual or potential conflicts of interest, complaints of favoritism, possible claims of sexual harassment, and the employee morale problems that can potentially result from romantic relationships involving employees in the workplace.

When, in the opinion of the company, personal relationships create a conflict of interest, cause disruption, create a negative or unprofessional work environment, or present concerns regarding supervision, safety, security or morale, the company will take appropriate action to address the situation.

Employees involved in a workplace romance should promptly disclose the relevant circumstances to their supervisor or OA representative so that a determination can be made as to what appropriate actions, if any, should be taken.

Job Facts and General Information

JOB FACTS AND GENERAL INFORMATION

This section is intended to give you the information you need to be familiar with your role as an employee. Many of the following policies are general in nature. For additional information on specific policies or practices as they relate to you and your facility, contact your manager/supervisor or human resources/organizational advancement representative.

ABSENCE

The work of each department is affected directly by every other department. When one department fails to meet its schedule, then other departments, the company in general, and our customers are affected. Similarly, if you are not there to do your work, it affects other people in your department and in the plants and offices. This is why we say that orderly and efficient operations require regular, prompt attendance at work by all of us. Occasional absence for illness is understood; however, continued irregular attendance whether due to physical or mental disability or any other reason cannot be permitted. Excessive absence for any reason, whether authorized or unauthorized, is not tolerated. We must insist that you report for work on time. You must be ready to start work when your scheduled work period begins. If you are absent from work for a period of seven consecutively scheduled work days without authorization, or if the company determines that your absence of seven consecutively scheduled work days is not due to a legitimate illness or injury, you are considered as having voluntarily quit the employ of the company.

AUTHORIZED LEAVE OF ABSENCE

An authorized leave of absence can be granted by your supervisor, but it must be in writing. If you wish to have an authorized leave of absence for a period of more than three days, your supervisor must obtain additional approval. You are given a copy of the written approval of the absence.

REPORTING ABSENCE

If for any reason you are unable to report for work, you should report your absence prior to the start of your scheduled shift. You may do so by contacting the plant. Someone is in attendance at all times to accept such calls. The telephone number to call may be found on the "Report Off Card" or in the local telephone directory. When calling to report your absence, give your name, clock number, supervisor's name, reason for absence and how long you expect to be away from your job.

RETURNING FROM A MEDICAL-RELATED ABSENCE

You need a physician's release to return to work if you have had an extended absence resulting from illness, injury or maternity leave. You will be asked to obtain a signed statement from your doctor indicating when you are able to return to work. Prior to returning, you will need to contact a medical services representative to determine whether a job related medical examination consistent of business necessity is warranted:

- Are absent three (3) or more consecutively scheduled workdays because of an ILLNESS OR INJURY;
- Contracted any COMMUNICABLE DISEASE; or
- Are ADMITTED TO A HOSPITAL (not outpatient or emergency room care) because of an ILLNESS OR INJURY at any time.

WHEN YOU MUST REPORT TO MEDICAL SERVICES (a personal physician statement may be required):

Report to Medical Services or your medical representative before your next scheduled shift for review of your condition if you:

- Have any MINOR INJURY that results in your absence for one (1) or more scheduled work days;
- Have any SURGICAL PROCEDURE, even if no work days are missed, you were not scheduled to work, or you took vacation time;
- Are INJURED while participating in a company-sponsored recreational program; or
- Have NEW MEDICAL RESTRICTIONS OR REQUIREMENTS. For example, prescription for a drug that could have an adverse effect on workplace safety due to its side effects, requirement to wear a sling, brace or cast, or a requirement to walk with crutches or a cane, regardless of whether or not you are absent on scheduled work days.

For additional information and for specific policies and procedures in place at your facility, contact your manager/supervisor or human resources/organizational advancement representative.

DISABILITY CASE MANAGEMENT (DCM) PROGRAM

INTRODUCTION

The Disability Case Management program is a service to assist you while on disability leave. The program is a tool to manage both occupational and nonoccupational disabilities. The company pays the full cost of this benefit. The following is the Mission Statement developed for the Disability Case Management program:

The Disability Case Management program is a means to assist employees confidentially while on leave from work due to injury or illness. Our obligation is to play an essential role in the employee's recovery as the link between the employee, the treating physician and the company.

The Role of the Disability Case Manager is to:

- Monitor your progress to assure appropriate treatment.
- Aid you in initiating disability benefits.
- Communicate with your medical provider(s).
- Make referrals to rehabilitation or vocational services.
- Assist the Company in defining and accommodating job duty restrictions, if needed.
- Answer your questions regarding your disability.

For more details about Disability Case Management, or if you need assistance while on disability leave, contact your local Medical Services or HR/OA Representative, or the Corporate Medical Services Department in Canton at (330) 471-3744 or (330) 471- 3306.

DISABILITY APPLICATIONS

If you become disabled, it is your responsibility to apply for the appropriate benefit:

- Workers' Compensation benefit
- Short-Term Disability benefits,
- Long-Term Disability benefits,
- Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) leave, and/or
- Social Security Disability and/or Primary Old Age benefits.

Refer to the appropriate handbook section for more details regarding these benefits and the applicable application process.

ACCIDENTS

Medical services are generally available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If you are injured while in the office or plant, you must report to Medical Services. If company medical services are not available and you are injured in the course of your employment, you must report to the nearest medical facility, your supervisor, or Security Services.

APPRENTICE TRAINING

If you have the aptitude, educational background and desire to enter a trade or craft position, TimkenSteel offers that opportunity through its apprentice program. Successful completion of the apprentice program garners a completion certificate and a sought-after journeyman's card. Many graduates from the apprentice program have advanced to other responsible positions within the company.

The TimkenSteel apprentice program includes both classroom study and actual trade experience under the guidance of experienced journeymen and steel mill savvy instructors.

If you desire to become an apprentice and have the required qualifications, you are encouraged to contact Steel OA during your off-work hours so that the application procedures can be explained.

BADGES/SECURITY IDENTIFICATION

An identification badge or card was provided to you when you were hired. As a protective measure for you and plant facilities, you are required to use this identification to enter the plant. Plant personnel and Security may ask you to show this identification. If you forget, lose or misplace your identification, contact your supervisor. Arrangements will then be made to give you temporary or permanent identification, as the situation warrants. A fee is charged for all permanent identification replacements.

BULLETIN BOARDS

The main source of information about your company is your supervisor. You should, however, make it a practice to look at bulletin boards. Information about work schedules, company activities and related subjects are placed on these boards. All notices of general interest are posted there. Items placed on any bulletin board must be approved by the appropriate department.

CELLULAR (CELL) PHONES

Note: The following information provides general guidelines for the company. You should also consult your human resources representative for any additional applicable policies.

Use of cell phones, tablets, ereaders/ebooks, or any other form of electronic communication device during work time and in work areas is prohibited unless authorized by your manager/supervisor. Camera phones cannot be used for picture taking at any time while on company premises without authorization from your supervisor. Those failing to abide by this rule will be subject to discipline up to and including discharge.

CHANGE IN YOUR PERSONAL DATA

We need up-to-date information about you and your family for our personnel records. Keeping this data current is vital to you as an employee and might affect your employee benefits, payroll deductions or how quickly your family may be contacted in an emergency. You should promptly notify your supervisor and the Human Resource Department in your plant of changes in any of the following:

- Name
- Marital status
- Number of dependents
- Citizenship status
- Selective service classification
- Association or disassociation with any of the reserve components of the Armed Forces of the United States
- Education

Some employees have the ability to view and make changes to select personal data through MySuccess on TimkenSteel's Intranet. This website allows employees to view and update certain personal, payroll and benefits information.

If you have access to MySuccess, you can view and update your home address and home phone number, work profile, emergency contact, geographic preferences, school district, county and Personal Identification Number (PIN) change. MySuccess also allows you to view (but not change) your personal profile, cost center detail, education and training, registrations, compensation history, status history and position history.

If you do not have access to MySuccess, you may obtain the proper forms for reporting these changes from your Human Resources Representative. After indicating all changes or corrections that should be made in your record, return these forms to your Human Resources Representative, who can forward them to the proper department. In addition, if you change your name, marital status or number of dependents, please contact your Employee Benefits representative to assure proper benefit coverage.

Note: For benefits purposes, certain changes in personal and/or family status - such as marriage, divorce or the birth of a child - require that you notify the company within a specified time period. To find out more about these time limitations, contact your human resources representative or consult your Total Rewards Handbook.

COMMUNITY VOLUNTEER ENGAGEMENT

TimkenSteel encourages employees to help make the world a better place by being an active volunteer in communities where they live. Volunteering not only provides the chance to shape the world around you, it can also offer professional development opportunities as outlined in our leadership pipeline guidelines. Evaluation of such opportunities should be discussed with your manager.

If your volunteer involvement conflicts with your normal work hours, you must have approval from your manager to be away from work. This applies to your personal volunteer commitments as well as company-supported or company-led events such as United Way or Habitat for Humanity. If these teams meet during your normal work hours, prior manager approval is required. It is within manager discretion to determine if this time away will be permissible.

For information regarding community opportunities or if you are interested in posting community information, please contact your local community relations coordinator or OA representative. For information about TimkenSteel sponsorship, please contact your plant manager or the Community Relations department in Canton, Ohio.

CONTINUOUS IMPROVEMENT – EMPLOYEE INVOLVEMENT

Your involvement in continuous improvement is vital to the success of the company. You should be finding and implementing better ways to serve our customers more efficiently. At all times, your managers are ready to hear ideas you may have for doing your job better. Employees' suggestions have provided ways to improve the quality of our products, increase the productivity of our equipment, reduce costs, improve communications, manage employee relations issues, and maintain a good safety program—all of which makes jobs more secure. When each of us does our job accurately, in a timely manner and using only those resources absolutely necessary, the company can satisfy the requirements of its current customers and gain new customers.

COUNSELING

If you have a question or a problem, talk to your supervisor about it. There may be times when you would rather discuss a personal problem with someone who is not directly associated with you. In such a case, a representative from the Company's Medical Department can assist you with your problem or direct you to those who may be able to help.

DRESS CODE/APPEARANCE

Note: The following information provides general guidelines for the company. You should also consult your local HR representative for any additional applicable local policies.

Clothing should be appropriate and support the general image of the company. Each employee is relied upon to use his or her own good judgment in choice of clothing. Clean, neat and appropriate dress convey the business-like efficiency and professionalism that are important to all facets of our business conduct.

In cases where clothing does not fully meet the expectation for appropriate attire, it is the responsibility of the management of each department or area to review this with the employee(s) involved and see that corrective action is taken.

In the manufacturing environment, certain standards of dress are required to ensure safe, efficient operations. Employees working near machinery are not permitted to wear loose or ragged clothing, loose frilly skirts or dresses, rings, necklaces, beads, wrist watches, and bracelets. Shoes must be closed-toed, closed-heeled, and cannot be made totally of canvas material. Shirts must be worn in the plants at all times.

Jewelry, makeup, perfume, cologne, tattoos and piercings when worn or displayed need to be in good taste. All employees should be cognizant of potential allergies and sensitivities to certain aromas and chemicals in perfumes and colognes and use these substances with restraint. Appropriateness will be measured at the sole discretion of the company through its management.

The information contained in this section is provided for guidance only. If clothing or other attire fails to meet these standards, as determined by the employee's supervisor or a member of human resources/organizational advancement, proper action will be taken, which may include discussions with the employee or requiring the employee to change clothes. Recurring offenses may lead to disciplinary action, up to, and including, discharge.

EDUCATIONAL REIMBURSEMENT PROGRAM

A fundamental objective of the company is to achieve and sustain profitable growth and operational excellence. Developing our employees' skills is critical to our success, and we recognize that a university-based degree program may be an integral component of an employee's development plan. The company is committed to supporting cost-effective continued education that is aligned with the company's core business objectives.

The Educational Reimbursement Program (ERP) is intended to reimburse tuition and covered expenses for degreed programs that meet the other requirements discussed in this policy. University courses for business-related training not intended to lead to a degree are not within the scope of the ERP and are to be addressed by manager/supervisor approval in the same manner as other types of approved training.

The ERP is offered according and subject to the rules and conditions provided in this policy. Participation is at the discretion of the company as exercised by its management. The company reserves the right to amend, suspend or terminate the ERP at any time, in whole or in part. An employee's participation in the ERP does not constitute a contract of employment, give rise to any expectation of continued employment, promotion or increase in compensation, or diminish the right of either the employee or the company under applicable law to terminate the employment relationship at any time, with or without cause.

EMPLOYMENT POLICY

The company's human resources philosophy emphasizes placing the most qualified candidates available in positions in both our plants and our offices. During our selection process, we refer to the following policies concerning equal employment opportunity, the hiring of relatives, the rehire of former employees and the serious illness policy. These guidelines are followed with the ultimate goal being to place qualified candidates in each open position.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY POLICY

The company is an equal opportunity employer. Our long-stated policy is clear and simple: The Company treats all employees and applicants equally according to their individual qualifications, abilities, experiences and other employment standards.

The company abides by all local, state and federal laws regarding equal employment opportunity. Every person who applies for a job or who works for the company will be considered solely on their qualifications and performance in connection with all employment decisions, including but not limited to recruitment, hiring, placement, compensation, benefits, promotions, termination and all other aspects of employment. All employment decisions will be made without regard to an individual's race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, genetics, gender identity, sexual orientation, disability, status as a covered veteran or any other basis protected by applicable law.

The company does not, and will not, tolerate any discrimination or harassment, and any employee violating this Equal Employment Opportunity Policy or the Policy Prohibiting Discrimination and Harassment, set forth elsewhere in the employee handbook, is subject to disciplinary action, up to and including termination.

ACCOMMODATING QUALIFIED INDIVIDUALS WITH DISABILITIES

The Company does not discriminate against applicants or employees with disabilities, against applicants or employees who are associated with a disabled person (e.g., an applicant's child, parent, ward, etc.) or against applicants or employees, regardless of sex, who are caregivers of a disabled person.

In furtherance of the Company's conviction that all qualified individuals are entitled to equal employment opportunity, any employee who believes he or she needs an accommodation because of a physical or mental disability should request such accommodation(s), if able to in writing, from the human resources/organizational advancement department.

In connection with your request, representatives of the human resources/organizational advancement department will meet with you to discuss your functional limitations and how to address such limitations to allow you to perform your job duties. As part of this process, human resources/organizational advancement representatives may ask you to provide documentation as to the underlying condition and specific limitations from your health care provider. The ultimate goal of this meeting and process is to allow human resources/organizational advancement to provide you with a reasonable accommodation of your disability (i.e., adjustments or assistance to allow you to perform your essential functions at an acceptable performance level, if warranted under the circumstances).

If you have further questions about this policy or if you believe you have experienced disability discrimination, contact the human resources/organizational advancement manager as soon as possible, call the TimkenSteel HelpLine, use the Open Door Policy, or follow the steps outlined in this handbook. To the extent possible, all such inquiries will be treated confidentially.

HIRING RELATIVES – POLICY

While it is the policy of TimkenSteel Corporation to encourage capable relatives of employees to seek employment with the company, it is also the intent of the company not to create a conflict or apparent conflict of interest. No immediate relative of an employee will be hired when it results or is reasonably likely to result, in the employee directly or indirectly being responsible for the supervision, evaluation, salary recommendations or promotional opportunity of a relative.

To ensure that the company will have an effective workforce, the consideration of whether a relative of a current employee can be hired will be based upon the following considerations:

1. The employee's job level.
2. The relationship of the applicant to the employee.
3. The location of the job vacancy to be filled.

Immediate relatives as a general rule will not be hired in the same department or under the same functional Director; however, each situation will be evaluated on a case by case basis. For the purpose of this policy, immediate family includes an employee's spouse, father, mother, children, brothers, and sisters.

No "immediate family" employee relationship covered by this policy will be allowed to be maintained, regardless of the positions involved, if it creates a disruption or potential disruption in the work environment, creates an actual or perceived conflict of interest or is prohibited by any other rule or regulation.

An independent review will be made on a case by case basis for employees currently employed by TimkenSteel Corporation who become related by way of marriage or otherwise during the course of the employment. The company will have the final decision on the resolution.

REHIRE POLICY

Former employees who voluntarily left their employment at the company may be considered eligible for re-employment. Typical examples of situations where an employee separated from the company and may be considered for rehire include:

- Pursuit of additional education;
- Relocation with spouse;
- Domestic responsibility (i.e., the full-time care of children, elderly parents or a sickness or injury at home that requires full-time attention);
- Employed part-time and quit due to the expiration of a temporary assignment or because they were able to secure full-time employment opportunities not otherwise offered by the company.

If former employees wish to be considered for rehire, they must submit a résumé and follow the same procedures as any other applicant. They will be considered for re-employment along with other applicants as job vacancies occur. Rehires must be approved by Manager – Employee Relations.

SERIOUS ILLNESS POLICY

If you contract a serious illness (i.e., heart disease, cancer or Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome/AIDS), you have the right to continue working as long as you can perform your job and pose no threat to your safety or that of others. The company does not discriminate in hiring or promoting on the basis of serious illnesses or disabilities. Medical Services determines if employees are capable of performing the essential functions of the job with or without reasonable accommodation.

The company maintains the confidentiality of every employee's medical condition.

You may discuss any concerns regarding serious illnesses with a representative of medical services. Staff members can direct you to appropriate internal company or external community resources. All information remains confidential.

Normal work relationships should continue with co-workers regardless of your medical condition(s). Any concerns regarding your safety or that of your colleagues should be discussed with your manager/supervisor or a representative of medical services.

FAMILY & MEDICAL LEAVE ACT (FMLA)

The company is committed to complying with the federal Family and Medical Leave Act and any other applicable state law related to similar leaves. For further information, please contact your supervisor/manager or Human Resource/Organizational Advancement representative (HR/OA).

BASIC LEAVE ENTITLEMENT

If you are eligible for FMLA, you may take up to 12 weeks of unpaid, job-protected leave for the following reasons:

- For incapacity due to pregnancy, prenatal medical care or child birth;
- To care for the employee's child after birth, or placement for adoption or foster care;
- To care for the employee's spouse, son or daughter, or parent, who has a serious health condition; or
- For a serious health condition that makes the employee unable to perform the employee's job.

Note: A "child" means a biological, adopted or foster child; a stepchild, a legal ward or a child of person standing in loco parentis, who is either under the age of 18, or 18 and older and "incapable of self-care because of a mental or physical disability."

Local state laws may require fewer hours worked and may provide employees with leave beyond 12 weeks. In addition, leave under the California Family

Rights Act will run concurrently with FMLA leave.

A husband and wife both employed by the company and eligible for FMLA leave are permitted to take no more than a combined total of 12 weeks in a 12-month period for childbirth, adoption/foster child placement or to care for a parent with a serious health condition. However, this does not preclude either employee from using the remainder of the twelve weeks for other FMLA-qualifying events.

MILITARY FAMILY LEAVE ENTITLEMENTS

Eligible employees with a spouse, son, daughter, or parent on covered active duty or call to active duty status in the National Guard, regular Armed forces, or Reserves may use their 12-week leave entitlement to address certain qualifying exigencies. Eligible employees may use their 12-week leave entitlement to address certain "qualifying exigencies" that arise when the employees' spouse, son or daughter, or parent is on active duty or call to active duty status in the Regular Armed Forces (including the National Guard or Reserves) and has been deployed outside the United States.

FMLA also includes a special leave entitlement that permits eligible employees to take up to 26 weeks of leave to care for a covered service member during a single 12-month period. A covered service member is a current member of the Armed Forces (including the National Guard or Reserves), who has suffered a serious injury or illness that was incurred in the line of active duty or that previously existed and was aggravated by service in the line of active duty and that renders the service member medically unfit to perform his or her duties for which the service member is currently undergoing medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy; or is in outpatient status; or is on the temporary disability retired list. To be considered a covered service member, a "veteran" must have been a member of the Armed Forces within five years of undergoing such medical treatment, recuperation, or therapy.

BENEFITS AND PROTECTIONS

Your status, rate of pay, and benefits will be maintained during FMLA leave to the extent required by law. You will continue to receive group health benefits during the term of the leave as long as you continue to pay your portion of premiums, if applicable, according to the payroll deduction schedule and related practices. If payment is over 60 days late, coverage may lapse.

Before you go on leave, you will be expected to agree that the company can withhold additional health care contributions, if applicable, from your pay or any monies owing to you if, for any reason, the company does not receive your contributions for your health care coverage while you are on a leave of absence.

By law, the use of FMLA leave cannot result in the loss of any employment benefit that accrued prior to the start of your leave.

Upon return from FMLA leave, most employees must be restored to their original or an equivalent position with equivalent pay, benefits and other employment terms as more fully set forth under the heading "return to work" below.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Employees are eligible for FMLA leave if they have been employed by the company for at least one year, for 1,250 hours over the previous 12 months, and if you are employed at a worksite with at least 50 employees within 75 miles of that worksite (or any applicable state leave as previously described).

DEFINITION OF SERIOUS HEALTH CONDITION

A serious health condition is an illness, injury, impairment, or physical or mental condition that involves either an overnight stay in a medical care facility or continuing treatment by a health care provider for a condition that either prevents the employee from performing the functions of the employee's job, or prevents the qualified family member from participating in school or other daily activities.

Subject to certain conditions, the continuing treatment requirement may be met by a period of incapacity of more than three consecutive calendar days combined with at least two in-person visits to a health care provider or one in-person visit and a regimen of continuing treatment, or incapacity due to pregnancy, or incapacity due to a chronic condition. The determination of when or how additional treatments or visits, or a regimen of continuing treatment is necessary within the 30-day period will be made by the health care provider. Other conditions may meet the definition of continuing treatment.

USE OF LEAVE

An employee does not need to use this leave entitlement in one block. Leave can be taken intermittently or on a reduced leave schedule when medically necessary. Employees must make reasonable efforts to schedule leave for planned medical treatment so as not to unduly disrupt the Company's operations. Leave due to qualifying exigencies may also be taken on an intermittent basis.

Unless otherwise required by law, an Employee is not entitled to utilize his or her FMLA leave on an intermittent or reduced leave basis for the care of a child after birth, adoption or foster care placement.

In the case of childbirth, disability for female employees will count toward the 12-week leave entitlement. Once the disability period has expired, the female employee may take the remaining balance of the 12 weeks as unpaid leave, provided her FMLA entitlement has not been exhausted during the 12-month period.

LEAVE CALCULATION

Your FMLA leave allotment is calculated on a rollback-year basis and assessed with each new leave request. Any time off on FMLA during the 12 months prior to the start date of a new leave will be deducted from your leave allotment.

Except in the case of military covered service member leave for an ill or injured service member, your FMLA leave allotment never exceeds 12 weeks in a 12-month period.

An eligible employee is entitled to 26 workweeks of leave to care for a covered service member with a serious injury or illness during a "single 12-month period". The "single 12-month period" begins on the first day the employee takes FMLA leave to care for a covered service member and ends 12 months after that date. If the employee does not take all 26 workweeks of leave, the remaining part of his or her 26 workweeks of leave entitlement is forfeited.

SUBSTITUTION OF PAID LEAVE FOR UNPAID LEAVE

Employees may choose or the company may require use of accrued paid leave while taking FMLA leave. In order to use paid leave for FMLA leave, employees must comply with the Company's normal paid leave policies.

Vacation use is required for all intermittent and reduced schedule leave arrangements. In these cases, vacation and FMLA run concurrently.

EMPLOYEE RESPONSIBILITIES

Employees must provide 30 days advance notice of the need to take FMLA leave when the need is foreseeable. When 30 days notice is not possible, the employee must provide notice as soon as practicable and generally must comply with the company's normal call-in procedures.

Employees must provide sufficient information for the company to determine if the leave may qualify for FMLA protection and the anticipated timing and duration of the leave. Sufficient information may include that the employee is unable to perform job functions, the family member is unable to perform daily activities, the need for hospitalization or continuing treatment by a health care provider, or circumstances supporting the need for military family leave. Employees also must inform the Company if the requested leave is for a reason for which FMLA leave was previously taken or certified. It will be the employee's responsibility to inform their supervisor/manager or HR/OA Representative of any impending FMLA leave. Employees also are required to provide a certification and periodic recertification supporting the need for leave.

EMPLOYER RESPONSIBILITIES

The Company will inform employees requesting leave whether they are eligible under FMLA. This notice will specify any additional information required as well as the employee's rights and responsibilities. If the employee is not eligible, the notice will provide a reason for the ineligibility.

The Company will inform employees if leave will be designated as FMLA-protected and the amount of leave counted against the employee's leave entitlement, if known. If the Company determines that the leave is not FMLA-protected, the Company will notify the employee. The designation of your leave request will be documented in writing and will be given to you.

CERTIFICATION OF HEALTH CARE PROVIDER

Certification from a health care provider is required from all employees requesting FMLA leave for their own serious health condition, for the purpose of caring for a spouse, child or parent with a serious health condition, and for the care of an ill or injured covered service member. You can obtain a certification form from your supervisor, your HR/OA representative, or by contacting the FMLA administrator.

You must have the applicable certification form completed by the health care provider within 15 calendar days from the date you request leave. If extenuating circumstances delay the return of the form, you must communicate that information prior to the end of the 15-day time period. Barring extenuating circumstances, failure to provide a completed certification within 15 days may result in delay or denial of your leave request.

The Company is not obligated to pay for the initial certification or subsequent recertification. This includes any paperwork fees the health care provider may charge. The company may request a second opinion at its own expense if there is a question about the validity of the certification, or a third opinion if the first and second opinions differ.

Appropriate documentation will be required for all military qualifying exigency leave requests.

RETURN TO WORK

During your leave, you may be required under appropriate circumstances to report periodically about your leave status and intent to return to work.

If you are on leave due to your own serious health condition, you must obtain and present a fitness for duty certification from the health care provider that you are able to resume work before returning. You must have your health care provider complete a return to work form (available through the disability plan administrator) or other documentation satisfactory to the Company.

Upon return from FMLA job protected leave, you will be restored to your original position or an equivalent one with equivalent pay, benefits, and other conditions of employment to the extent required by law. However, FMLA leave cannot guarantee job restoration in the event of workforce reduction or shift elimination. Further, the company reserves the right to fill your position temporarily during the term and duration of your leave.

The company reserves the right to deny restoration to any "key" employee if it determines that substantial and grievous injury will result if the key employee is reinstated. A key employee is a salaried employee eligible for leave who is among the highest paid 10 percent of all employees within 75 miles of the worksite.

UNLAWFUL ACTS BY EMPLOYERS

FMLA makes it unlawful for any employer to:

- Interfere with, restrain, or deny the exercise of any right provided under FMLA;
- Discharge or discriminate against any person for opposing any practice made unlawful by FMLA or for involvement in any proceeding under or relating to FMLA.

ENFORCEMENT

An employee has certain rights under the FMLA Regulations; they may file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Labor or may bring a private lawsuit against the company.

FMLA does not affect any Federal or State law prohibiting discrimination, or supersede any state or local law or collective bargaining agreement, which provides greater family or medical leave rights.

FOOD SERVICE AND LUNCH

Food and beverages may be purchased in our food service areas on any shift. If you bring your own lunch, you are invited to use our lunch room facilities. Lunch periods depend on department work schedules. The specific time of your lunch is scheduled by your supervisor.

GARNISHMENTS

Garnishments are attachments on your pay for an unpaid debt. We are required by law to withhold a portion of your wages due when a garnishment has been served on the company. Such garnished wages can only be released to you upon receipt by the company of an order from the court issuing the termination.

HELPLINE

The company is proud of its long-standing reputation for integrity, ethics and respect for the law. Your personal integrity is critical in maintaining our company's impeccable reputation. Your voice is equally important. Anytime you have concerns regarding possible unethical behavior, share them with your supervisor, manager or a member of our human resources/organizational advancement team or call the TimkenSteel HelpLine, toll-free, day or night at 1-855-754-2921. You may also report your concerns to the HelpLine via email by logging onto www.timkensteel.ethicspoint.com. Calls and emails may remain anonymous.

Some examples of situations that you should speak up about include:

- Anti-trust compliance;
- Conflicts of interest;
- Discrimination or harassment;
- Environmental or safety concerns;
- Healthcare fraud and abuse;
- Illegal drug or alcohol abuse;
- Improper export or import activity or other regulatory violations;
- Inappropriate gifts or gratuities;
- Insider trading;
- Questionable accounting or auditing practices;
- Theft or misuse of company or personal property; and
- Threats of violence.

The TimkenSteel HelpLine is a toll-free phone number that you can call if you are not comfortable discussing your concerns face-to-face. The HelpLine is available around the clock, every day. No call tracing or recording devices are ever used and, if you wish, you may remain completely anonymous. When you call the TimkenSteel HelpLine, a trained communication specialist, who is not employed directly by the company, will ask you a series of questions to better understand your concern. The specialist will prepare a report that is forwarded to the appropriate company representative for review and, if necessary, investigation. At the end of your call, you will be given a unique identification number and a call-back date, after which you may follow-up on your report.

Simply reference the identification number when you call. If additional information is needed from you, you will be asked for it when you call back.

The company will not tolerate any retaliatory act directed toward any individual who utilizes the HelpLine to raise a good faith concern or issue. If the company determines that an individual has engaged in retaliation, that misconduct will result in disciplinary action, up to and including immediate termination.

The HelpLine is not intended to be a substitute for meaningful communication between you and your supervisor or manager. If you have questions or concerns regarding normal operating procedures or suggestions for making your workplace more comfortable or efficient, please take them directly to him or her.

HOURS OF WORK

Your scheduled hours of work are assigned by your manager/supervisor and your work assignments depend on your team's work schedule. You are expected to be ready to work at the start of your shift and work until the end of your shift. When overtime is required, an employee is expected to cooperate.

HOUSEKEEPING

All employees are expected to keep the plant and offices clean to have a better, safer, more pleasant place to work. This includes workstations, parking lots, lockers and general areas of the offices and plant grounds. It may involve sweeping the floor; wiping off equipment; putting tools, rags and gloves away; picking up things dropped, and other activities associated with a clean, safe operation.

INSPECTION

TimkenSteel is concerned about maintaining security, protecting company property and protecting employee property. The company reserves the right to search company premises and persons at any time without prior notice, including employees, visitors, suppliers or vendors, entering or leaving the premises.

The company reserves the right to inspect lunch boxes, bags, or any other containers on or in the possession of anyone on company property. This also includes periodic inspection of work areas, desks, paper and electronic files and lockers. This helps to ensure safety for all employees.

The company may deny entry to the premises to anyone refusing to submit to a search. Failure to cooperate in a search will result in disciplinary action up to and including termination.

ITEMS NOT ALLOWED ON COMPANY PROPERTY

For reasons of safety and security, you are not to bring, use or have in your possession firearms, weapons of any kind, explosives, alcohol, any intoxicant, any narcotic, any barbiturate, any amphetamine, any hallucinogen or any other illegal stimulating or depressing drug on company premises at any time.

Possession of cameras, radios, recording devices and other electrical appliances on company property is authorized only by special permission. Where such devices are connected with cell phones, laptops and the like, no unauthorized use of these items will be permitted.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

For many years, the company has practiced promotion from within. That means there are opportunities for people who want to get ahead. If you are interested in advancing with the company, you should try to perform your present job to the best of your ability and prepare yourself for advancement by taking advantage of training and education opportunities.

JOB TRAINING

You receive thorough training for the job that you are to do. In most cases, your training comes from your supervisor or another designated and qualified employee. The instruction helps you develop the information and skill necessary to perform the work to which you are assigned. You are encouraged to request more instruction from your supervisor whenever you feel it can benefit your work.

LACTATION POLICY

As part of our family-friendly policies and benefits, TimkenSteel supports breastfeeding mothers by accommodating the mother who wishes to express breast milk during her workday when separated from her newborn child. Employees with current or anticipated lactation needs should contact either the Industrial or Employee Relations Departments to discuss accommodation.

LEAVING THE COMPANY

We hope that your employment with the company is mutually satisfactory.

If you choose to leave the service of the company for any reason, you should advise your supervisor at least one week before the last day you intend to work. You then should report to the Human Resources Department for an exit interview. One of the purposes of this interview is to review with you the expiration dates of your benefits. You also are required to sign an Exit Interview Notice form.

To receive your final pay, you must return your security ID badge and all other company property, and obtain a storeroom release. This should be done on your last day of work. Every effort is made to prepare your final pay as soon as possible after your last day worked.

If you leave the company without working out your five-day notice, you are paid the balance due to you on your regularly scheduled pay day after reporting to Human Resources.

In the majority of instances, employees who leave the company are not eligible for rehire.

LOCKERS

You are assigned a locker for your use. The company maintains the right to inspect your locker. If valuables are kept in your locker, it is suggested that you keep it locked.

LOST AND FOUND

If you believe that you have lost articles on the company's property, report the loss to your supervisor or to Security. The company does all that is possible to assist in locating the lost article. However, the company does not assume responsibility for personal property. If you should find any articles belonging to someone else, give them to your manager/supervisor. Additionally, many of our facilities have lost and found areas within the security department.

MEDICAL PASSES

Employees who become ill while working at the company and need to go home or to see their doctor can do so with supervisor/manager permission. Generally, your supervisor/manager will require you to see a medical representative before leaving. Such a requirement is simply for your safety and well-being. During this visit, Medical Services also may recommend that you see your family physician for follow-up.

Employees who are injured are generally required to see Medical Services personnel before leaving.

MEDICAL SERVICES

To provide medical and/or first-aid services to employees who become ill or are injured while at work, the company maintains, or contracts with, facilities that are supervised by qualified physicians and nursing staff. Medical Services is responsible for assisting employees with job placement, personal health counseling and medical care for job-related injuries or illnesses, including rehabilitation.

To provide medical care, Medical Services keeps complete and confidential medical records on all employees. Accurate and up-to-date medical information is essential during emergency situations. For this reason, it is important for you to report any major change in your medical condition that could affect your safety or the safety of co-workers. This includes reporting to medical services any prescriptions you are taking that could affect workplace safety due to their potential side effects.

Except in an emergency, you should inform your manager/supervisor that you are leaving your job before reporting to medical services. After treatment, you are given a medical visit slip to be returned to your manager/supervisor, if required at your facility. To protect the health and safety of all employees, all applicants with job offers and, for business-related reasons, employees being reinstated, may be required to undergo a medical examination. Certain job assignments may also require periodic medical examinations.

Any employee with a contagious or communicable disease posing a direct threat to the employee or others is not permitted to work while this direct threat exists. In this case, a direct threat means a significant risk of substantial harm to the health or safety of the employee or others that cannot be eliminated or reduced by reasonable accommodation. When returning to work after an absence, you should read the ABSENCE portion of this handbook for guidelines.

Your medical records will be kept confidential as required under The Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), the Genetic Information and Nondiscrimination Act (GINA), the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), and state laws on patient privacy. Medical Services is not a covered entity and therefore, HIPAA does not apply to your medical records. In most cases, Medical Services will obtain your consent prior to disclosing any of your medical information. However, there are some instances in which your medical information may be disclosed without your consent. For example, the company or a third party may need your medical information for treatment purposes, to determine whether you can do the essential functions of your job, or to determine whether you can work without posing a direct threat. Medical Services may also be required to disclose your medical information to the company or a third party in certain situations concerning a work-related illness or injury, a workplace-related medical surveillance, or as otherwise required by law. If permitted by law, we may also disclose an employee's medical information to the extent necessary to address situations involving falsification of information by the employee.

MESSAGES, MAIL AND PARCEL POST

It is not practical to deliver personal messages for you while you are at work. However, for emergency situations, you should make sure that members of your family know your employee identification number, department number and the proper telephone number where you can be reached.

Our mail service is not equipped to handle personal mail or packages. We, therefore, ask you to mail these items at a local post office or mailbox and have your personal mail delivered to your home.

MILITARY SERVICE

ENLISTMENT OR INDUCTION

If you engage in a period of service in the United States Armed Forces, you may qualify for re-employment under The Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA), depending upon the length of your period of service in the uniformed services. As far in advance as is reasonable under the circumstances, you or an appropriate officer, as defined by federal law, should give notice of your intent to enter a period of service in the uniformed services to a human resources/organizational advancement representative. If possible, a member of human resources/organizational advancement will meet with you prior to your departure. If your length of service requires you to apply for reemployment, you should report to a human resources/organizational advancement representative following your release within the time period specified by law.

NATIONAL GUARD OR MILITARY RESERVE

TimkenSteel Corporation is proud to employ members of the United States Armed Forces. Accordingly, the Company has made the decision to provide a pay differential to compensate members of the uniformed services for certain types of military duty. You may be entitled to be paid an amount equal to your daily regular wages minus your pay from the National Guard or the military reserve for each day you normally would have been scheduled to work. This is called military differential pay. In order for TimkenSteel Corporation to correctly calculate your pay for the time missed from work for qualifying military duty, you must present to a human resources/organizational advancement representative your official military pay statement showing the dates you were present for duty, the exact number of days you were present for duty, and the rate of base pay per day you received from your military unit. Failure to timely submit military pay statements will result in a delay in processing your pay and failure to submit this information within three (3) months from your first day of your return to work after military duty may result in failure to receive military differential pay. Time compensated in this manner will not be used to calculate your regular rate of pay for overtime purposes.

TRAINING DUTY

If you are a member of the National Guard or Reserve and you are required to perform annual training, you are entitled to military differential pay up to a total of fifteen (15) days. If you are required to perform other types of military training (not including basic military training or other initial training), you may also qualify for military differential pay. Prior to performing such training duty, you should consult with your human resources/organizational advancement representative to determine if you are eligible for military differential pay.

ACTIVE DUTY

As a member of the uniformed services, you may also be ordered to active duty for extended periods of time. TimkenSteel employees ordered to active military service for certain deployments in direct support of combat operations may qualify for differential pay. Upon notification of your impending order to active duty, you should consult with your human resources/organizational advancement representative to determine if you are eligible for military differential pay. Employees called to active duty for any reason will be re-employed in accordance with the requirements set forth under state and federal law.

CIVIL EMERGENCIES

A Reservist or member of the National Guard ordered to active duty by a duly authorized civil authority in response to a civil emergency, such as a tornado, flood, storm, earthquake or other natural disaster, or to respond to a riot or some other civil disturbance, will be reimbursed by the Company for the amount of differential pay up to a total of fifteen (15) days. Orders must be issued by a competent civil authority: Governor of the State or President of the United States. When you return to work following a civil emergency, you should report to a human resources/organizational advancement representative for instructions.

Whenever you are ordered to perform any type of military service, you must consult with your human resources/organizational advancement representative and provide them with a copy of your orders or other document signed by an appropriate authority before leaving for military service. Please refer to the Uniformed Services Employment and Re-employment Rights Act (USERRA) for clarification of your rights and obligations when performing and returning from military service.

MYSUCCESS

TimkenSteel encourages employees to be involved in the management of their individual career path. The TimkenSteel MySuccess system provides employees with the ability to elaborate on their skills and interests that make them uniquely qualified for a particular position. Employees can search and apply on-line for any open position. For more information regarding MySuccess, please contact your human resources/organizational advancement representative.

NOTARY PUBLIC

Occasions may arise when you require the services of a Notary Public. You may obtain this service free of charge, based on availability, by contacting a human resources representative.

OPEN DOOR POLICY

There may be times when you have a problem, question or complaint. Management needs and wants to be aware of these issues. Our Open Door Policy is an affirmation of our belief that people are entitled to receive answers to their concerns from their immediate manager/supervisor, and they have the right to take questions further if they believe they have not received proper consideration.

The Open Door Policy consists of these general guidelines:

1. You should consult with your own manager/supervisor whenever you need help, information or advice. He or she works with you every day and should be in the best position to answer your questions fairly and promptly.
2. If you wish to discuss the matter further, you may want to take the subject up with progressively higher levels of management or, if you prefer, discuss the matter with a human resources/organizational advancement representative.

Additionally, if you request, a representative of the Employee Services or Human Resources Department can go with you to help you present your concern clearly, openly and thoroughly.

PARKING POLICY

Parking spaces are provided in lots near your work area. Your supervisor can show you the proper locations and explain the way you should enter and leave the lot. You should park within the allotted spaces, obey all directional signs and speed limits and extend proper courtesies to other drivers using the parking lot.

Should you be involved in an accident while on company property, you should immediately notify Security Services or your supervisor.

PASSES

EMPLOYEE PASS

Whenever you are permitted or requested to leave the plant during your scheduled shift, your supervisor gives you a signed Employee Pass.

If you are sent home by Medical Services after an injury or illness occurring at work, you are given an Employee Pass by Medical Services with a copy sent to your supervisor. When Medical Services is closed, either the supervisor or Security will issue the pass.

When you leave the plant, please give the pass to the Security Officer at the gate.

PACKAGE PASS

A Package Pass is required if you wish to remove some of your personal belongings or company property from plant premises. At least one hour before your shift ends, you should take the items to your supervisor so that he or she can issue a Package Pass. You should keep this pass with you when you leave the plant and show it to Security if requested to do so.

PROBATIONARY PERIOD

You are a probationary employee for the first 120 days worked after you are hired. It is during this period that you should establish the good work habits you want to maintain throughout your career with TimkenSteel. You may be transferred, laid off or dismissed during this period.

QUALITY

Quality is one of TimkenSteel's core values, along with ethics and integrity, innovation and independence. Quality is part of our overall goal to strengthen the company for future growth. And the need to ensure consistent quality increases as we continue to grow.

Our quality policy states: "Quality is the cornerstone of our reputation and is central to the ability of each business to achieve its mission. Each employee is committed to fully satisfy customer requirements and to continually improve everything we do to create value in our products and services."

RECOGNITION

Our employees are an integral part of the company. Because we appreciate your dedication and loyalty, a special program is established to recognize you for your years of service. At the conclusion of each five years of service, you are presented with a service recognition item and a certificate commemorating your service anniversary.

SAFETY

All safety regulations are enforced in our facilities. These are for your own protection as well as for the protection of your fellow employees. In certain designated areas and departments of our facilities, approved personal protective equipment, such as eye and hearing protection, is required. To obtain prescription safety glasses, it is necessary to present a copy of your prescription to medical services, your manager/supervisor, or a human resources/organizational advancement representative.

ACCIDENTS

First aid service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. If you are injured in any way while at work, even though it may seem slight to you, you must report the injury to the Medical Services or your Supervisor.

Any injury you receive while participating in a Company-sponsored recreation program must be reported to the Medical Services representative.

FIRE PROTECTION

At all TimkenSteel facilities, extensive fire alarm systems have been installed and efficient, well-trained volunteer fire brigades, comprised of employees, are always on call. Always be careful not to cause a fire. If fire does occur in your vicinity, don't attempt to extinguish it until you have first turned in an alarm.

PERSONAL PROTECTIVE EQUIPMENT

If the Company determines that your occupation requires the use of personal protective equipment to properly protect you from sickness or injury, it is provided by the Company at no cost to you in accordance with the practice now prevailing in your plant. Your supervisor arranges for you to obtain such personal protective equipment and you are required to use it to ensure your safety.

EYE PROTECTION

Eye protection, such as safety glasses with side shields, goggles, face shields, etc., is required in all production departments and in certain other designated areas. Proper eye protection must be worn by everyone entering these areas.

If you are required to wear eye protection, the Company furnishes, free of charge, the correct type of protection including prescription-type safety glasses. To obtain prescription safety glasses, see Medical Services. All safety glasses must be approved by either Medical Services or Security Services. Wearing of commercial-type sun glasses, including photochromatic glasses, in plant buildings is not permitted.

HEARING PROTECTION

Most areas of the plant are designated as mandatory hearing protection areas. If you work in those areas, you are required to wear ear plugs or ear muffs to protect your hearing. A yearly hearing test will also be performed. Your supervisor arranges for you to obtain the necessary hearing protection, which is provided by the Company.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

TimkenSteel Corporation Charitable and Educational Fund, Inc. offers a competitive global scholarship program for sons and daughters of eligible employees. TimkenSteel Corporation Global Scholarship Program is part of the company's commitment to recognize achievement inside and outside the classroom and start the sons and daughters of its employees on their way to a successful career.

Applications are evaluated by an independent consultant based upon many areas of achievement, both inside and outside the classroom.

SECURITY SERVICES

Protection of our plants and personnel is the responsibility of the Security Services. Members of the Security force are on duty to help you. They also can give you information concerning plant matters that are important to you.

TimkenSteel Security officers are required to have a current first-aid card and CPR issued by the American Red Cross. This ensures TimkenSteel Security officers have a basic knowledge of how to handle minor situations involving cuts, burns, fainting, seizures and other minor accidents. They are trained to stabilize the patient until medical attention can be obtained from a doctor, nurse or other medical specialist.

SMOKING/TOBACCO

Smoking and the use of tobacco or nicotine products are prohibited in all Company plants, offices, vehicles, and other mobile equipment. The use of electronic cigarettes is also prohibited. Smoke-free areas are indicated by posted NO SMOKING signs and/or by smoke-free environment designations on specific building and department entryways. There are no smoking breaks for employees. Smoking outside of offices and buildings on Company premises is permitted only during the employee's lunch period and before the start of or after the conclusion of the employee's working hours. This policy applies to all employees, temporary employees and contractors.

TEAMWORK

Teamwork and cooperation among employees and departments are of the greatest importance. When you join TimkenSteel Corporation, you become a member of the team.

TIME RECORDING

Your time worked is officially recorded via a time and attendance system. This is done with the use of your identification badge at time clocks located at your plant. You must swipe the time clock using your identification badge to ring in before the start of your shift and swipe out using your identification badge shortly after you finish work for the day. If you leave the plant during your scheduled shift, you must swipe the time clock using your identification badge.

Under no circumstances are you permitted to swipe another employee's identification badge or are you permitted to allow someone else to swipe your identification badge for you.

VISITOR POLICY

Access to our premises is limited to persons who have a legitimate reason to be present. Unauthorized persons, including personal friends or relatives, may disrupt operations or even pose a risk to the company or its employees.

All third parties, including but not limited to vendors, suppliers, contractors, consultants, clients, and all other non-TimkenSteel employees (collectively referred to as "visitors"), must sign the visitor log found at the reception desk before being escorted into the facility beyond the reception area. After completing the visitor log, the visitor will be assigned a visitor badge, which the visitor must wear at all times while on company premises. Visitors must be accompanied at all times while they are on company property, unless otherwise authorized by a manager/supervisor. Employees are responsible at all times for the whereabouts and conduct of their visitors.

If you notice an unauthorized person, or witness conduct you deem suspicious, you must immediately report the situation to your manager/supervisor. If you believe there is a threat to any individual's safety, you should notify security immediately.

WORKERS' COMPENSATION

Workers' Compensation benefits are provided for occupational diseases and injuries received in the course of and arising out of your employment.

These benefits, including medical and hospital care and compensation for lost time resulting from the injury or occupational disease, are provided to you in compliance with the laws of the state in which you are working. They are made available through contributions by the company without cost to you.

Refer to the Workers' Compensation section of the Total Rewards Handbook for more details.

Questions about the Handbook

QUESTIONS ABOUT THE HANDBOOK

For questions concerning any sections in this handbook, contact the Manager – Employee Relations:

Jeaneen J. McDaniels
Manager - Employee Relations and Workforce Compliance
Email: jeaneen.mcdaniels@timkensteel.com
Phone: 330-471-4131
Mail Code: GNE-24